

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

PREFACE.

My object in publishing the present volume is to supplement as far as possible the records of the School previous to 1791, when the School Lists first began to be printed. Before that date, in the absence of any printed record, it has been hitherto almost impossible to say whether any particular boy was at Eton or not, and it is my hope that the lists here printed with the accompanying index may to some extent remove this difficulty.

The present volume contains lists for the following years, viz.: 1678, 1698 (printed in Appendix I.*), 1706, 1707, 1718, 1725, 1728, 1732, 1742, 1745, 1747, 1753, 1754 and 1756—1790. I should not have presumed to print so incomplete a collection, had I any expectation that by a longer delay I might be able to discover an appreciable number of the missing lists. But taking into consideration the fact that Etonians have been collecting these MS. lists for some seventy years, and moreover that during the last four years I have done all in my power, both by circulars to Old Etonians and by public advertisements, to discover further lists, I think it better to publish at once those in existence than to defer publication indefinitely. For it is, I fear, hardly probable that a complete set of lists even for the first half of the 18th century will ever be brought together, though I am not without hope that this volume, by exciting interest in the subject, may lead to further discoveries.

To many these lists, containing little but bare surnames, may appear uninteresting enough, but as a necessary foundation on which some future commentator may build a real register of 18th century Etonians, I hope they will have their value. Such a register, though not impossible, must be a work of great labour, for the names themselves give little clue to identification. But there are certain sources of information that it may be well to indicate for the benefit of future workers in this field. In the first place the Christian names and parentage of all Collegers are easily accessible from the baptismal certificates which they had to produce to prove their age, and which have been kept among the College archives. These go back continuously as far as 1714, and are to be found for a few odd years previous to this date. In the next place it should not be difficult to trace any boys with titles, whether peers, sons of peers, or baronets. With regard to the great bulk of boys who were neither Collegers nor noblemen Dr. Barnard's entrance-book (preserved in the College Library), giving the Christian names, is of the greatest assistance for identifying the 1100 boys who entered the School between 1754 and 1765. It is possible too that other entrance-books may yet be discovered. Other sources are the Admission Books to Colleges at the Universities, which (at least in several cases at Cambridge), besides giving the Christian name and parentage of each undergraduate, specify the school from which he came, its head master's name, and the number of years the boy spent there. Some of these registers have been already published, notably those for St. John's College and Gonville and Caius College at Cambridge: the names of Etonians found at these and at other colleges are being gradually published in the periodical Etoniana. Further, a considerable number of Etonians may be gleaned from such books as the Dictionary of National Biography, Nichols' Literary Anecdotes of the 18th Century and his Illustrations of the Literary History, and Jesse's Memoirs, while another source not to be neglected is the list of subscribers to the edition of Musae Etonenses, published in 1755, most of whom were in all probability Etonians.

While this collection may claim to be fairly complete from 1752 onwards, there are many gaps in the first half of the 18th century. It is mortifying, or it would be mortifying were any other school in question, to reflect that Winchester, thanks to the untiring efforts of the late Mr. C. W. Holgate, can shew a complete set of rolls from 1723 onwards, besides no less than forty-four previous to that date beginning with the year 1653. But apart from Winchester, I know of no school, with the exception of Merchant Taylors' and possibly our ancient rival, Westminster, that can shew so many early lists as Eton.

It remains for me to express my most grateful thanks to all those who have been kind enough to entrust me with their lists, to the late Duke of Rutland, the late Earl of Romney, the Right Hon. L. V. Harcourt, M.P., Sir L. E. Jones, Bt., Sir J. W. Buchanan-Riddell, Bt., Sir W. W. Portal, Bt., Mr. C. W. Campbell, Miss B. Chetwynd-Stapylton, Mrs. Chute, Mr. A. Clark-Kennedy, Mr. Lionel Cust, Rev. G. R. Dupuis, Mr. J. E. Eastwood, Miss Ellison, Rev. N. T. Garry, Mr. T. C. Garth, Mr. S. H. le Fleming, Mr. G. E. Lloyd-Baker, Miss M. Mason, Mr. R. Orlebar, Rev. J. H. Snowden, Mr. V. F. Tufnell, and Mr. A. Wyatt-Edgell. Also to the Provost and Vice-Provost of Eton for granting me access to many documents; to Sir H. C. Maxwell Lyte for help and encouragement; to Mr. G. E. Cokayne for assisting me to identify many of the noblemen's names; to Mr. Wasey Sterry for generously placing at my disposal his collection of notes dealing with Eton; to Mr. Herbert Chitty, Mr. B. P. Lascelles, Rev. H. A. James, D.D., and Mr. G. F. Russell-Barker for information with regard to the numbers at Winchester, Harrow, Rugby and Westminster; to Mr. F. L. Clarke of the Bursary, King's College, for enabling me to date many of the lists by reference to the register of admissions to King's, and to all others who have helped me with advice and encouragement.

Further, I should like to express in particular how much I owe to the labours of the late Mr. H. E. Chetwynd-Stapylton. Mr. Stapylton, while engaged on his annotated School Lists from 1791 to 1892, found time to collect and make transcripts of many lists of the 18th century, and at one time even thought of publishing his collection. But abandoning that idea he gave his transcripts to the Eton College Library. Although I have in every case made my own transcript from the original, Mr. Stapylton's discoveries and his notes as to where the originals were to be found have naturally been of the greatest assistance.

I should like also to mention how much I owe to the example of the late Mr. C. W. Holgate in the admirable work he did with regard to the Long Rolls at Winchester, work that I can only hope to imitate longo intervallo.

In conclusion I need scarcely say how glad I should be if any one possessing lists for years not represented in this volume would let me know of them.

INTRODUCTION.

THE EXTENT OF THE SERIES, 1678–1790.

THE present volume contains a complete series of lists from 1756–1790 and the following lists previous to 1756, viz. 1678, 1698 (see Appendix I.), 1706, 1707, 1718, 1725, 1728, 1732, 1742, 1745, 1747, 1753 and 1754. When Mr. Stapylton presented his collection of transcripts to the Eton College Library in 1895 it contained lists for the following years, viz. 1678, 1718, 1725, 1732, 1742, 1745, 1752, 1754, 1757, 1762–1771, 1773, 1775, 1778–1783, 1785, 1788, and 1789. It will be seen that Mr. Stapylton's collection appears to include a list for 1752, but on closer investigation this proved to be a list not for 1752 but for 1753. The year 1753 being the first year for which I have seen more than one list, I have printed two, viz. for January and December, as they are practically a year apart. With the exception of the lists for the years 1698, 1732 and 1745, I have in every case been able to consult the original MS.

THE GAPS IN THE SERIES.

It will be seen that there are many gaps in the series previous to the year 1756, and it may be asked what chance there is of any further lists being discovered. From the very considerable number of lists that have been brought to light in the last few years, I feel no doubt that there are many more scattered about the country which will gradually emerge, as family papers come to be calendared. Meanwhile there is some proof that certain lists once extant have, temporarily at any rate, disappeared. Thus in the table of "Comparative Numbers of the School at different periods," which is given on the last page of the Eton Calendar and which was presumably taken from actual lists, it will be noticed that numbers are given for the years 1708, 1720, 1739 and 1755, for none of which have I been able to discover lists. This table first appears, as far as I know, in the original Eton Calendar that was edited in 1842 by G. J. Dupuis, who makes the following remark in his prefatory notice:

> The Lists of Eton School were first printed and published in the year 1791, and have continued to appear, very nearly in their original form, annually at each successive Election. Before that period, Manuscript Lists were prepared once in each School-time by the Head Master, and presented by him to the Provost: this custom still continues. In still earlier times, "Bills" of the School (as they were called), written on long narrow rolls of paper or parchment, are the only memorials to be met with. They are of course extremely rare.

When I wrote to the Rev. G. R. Dupuis, asking if he possessed any lists that had belonged to his father, G. J. Dupuis, he kindly sent me certain papers, among which was the transcript of the list of 1698 evidently in G. J. Dupuis' handwriting. The papers, however, contained no trace of the lists for 1708, 1720, 1739 or 1755. They did, however, include an elaborately drawn up table of numbers at Eton School for the following years: 1693, 1697, 1698, 1705, 1707, 1708, 1713–28, 1732, 1735, 1737, 1739, 1741, 1743–50, 1752–62, 1764–70, 1772–80, 1786, 1791, 1793–6, 1798, 1800–1 (see Appendix II.). As the numbers of Upper and Lower School are given separately in nearly every case, it looks almost certain that whoever compiled this table had seen lists for all the above-mentioned years. I imagine the table to have been compiled by Dr. Goodall, from the fact that among Mr. Dupuis' papers is a slip containing the words "Old Eton Lists and Papers which were once Dr. Goodall's," and if so it certainly seems as if all these lists were in existence about a hundred years ago.

Possibly such of these lists as belong to the seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries may have been those referred to in Nichols' "Literary Anecdotes":*

> I possess Rolls of Eton College and School, of the close of the 17th Century with the early parts of the 18th, preserved by Stephen Apthorp, many years Assistant, and finally Fellow of it. E. Jones.

Mr. Sterry made a search for these lists in 1889, and finally traced the matter down to a Mr. Charles Sturges Jones, of West Street, Chichester, who remembered his father possessing

* Vol. IX., p. 699 (additions to eighth volume, p. 428).

"several long parchment rolls about three or four inches broad, and containing a long list of names of Old Etonians." Mr. Jones remembered too that his father had gone to dine with the Provost of Eton some forty or fifty years before (i.e. before 1889) and "that he then took the said Rolls with him and presented them to the Provost or Head Master of that date." It is therefore quite possible that this series may yet be brought to light.

One other piece of evidence for the existence of other lists may be quoted from a letter to Mr. Chetwynd-Stapylton, written in 1861 by Lord Monson, in which the following sentence occurs:

> I have had a letter from Mr. Lambert Larking, the antiquary of Kent, and he tells me of Mr. Clayton having the largest and oldest collection of Eton Lists he ever saw.....Mr. Clayton's collection contains a Montem List about 1743.

I have not been able to discover anything about this collection, and it is possible that printed Eton Lists are referred to.

THE RECOVERY OF THE LISTS.

Incomplete as the present collection of lists is, it has only been brought together after a very considerable number of years, and I now propose to give as far as is possible the dates at which the various lists have been brought to light.

1832. In the January number of the Gentleman's Magazine, a list for 1781 (headed wrongly "1779–1780").

1834. Mr. Angelo lent a list for 1767 to Rev. R. B. Byam.

1843. Dr. Hawtrey caused a list for 1745 to be printed by E. P. Williams.

1851. The list for 1732 was printed in Eliot Warburton's "Memoirs of Horace Walpole and his Contemporaries," Vol. I., pp. 78–81.

1855. The Rev. J. Ayre presented lists for 1766, 1767, 1768 and 1769 to the College Library.

1862. Dr. Okes, Provost of King's, presented the roll for 1718 to the College Library.

1865. The list for 1678 was printed at the end of Etoniana (by the Rev. W. L. Collins).

In the course of this year Lord Abingdon wrote to Lord Romney begging the loan of certain lists (which must have been those for 1752, 1762, 1768, 1771 and 1789) on behalf of Mr. Chetwynd-Stapylton. The last-named also had seen by this time Mr. Hatch's list for 1764 and the Mason roll for 1775.

Lord Abingdon seems also to have borrowed Mr. Riddell's roll for 1762 for Mr. Stapylton.

1872. Mr. A. Wyatt-Edgell lent a list for 1766 to Mr. Stapylton.

1877. Colonel Tighe of Rossana sent Mr. Stapylton a printed list for 1780.

1884. Mr. R. N. Cust lent Mr. Stapylton a list for 1754.

1886. Mr. Ingalton Drake bought the five Frankland lists for 1776–1780 at a sale in London.

1888. Mr. Wasey Sterry discovered the list for 1742 in a copy of "Alumni Etonenses" in the Bodleian Library.

On June 21 appeared an article in the Eton College Chronicle by Mr. Stapylton, stating the extent of his collection at that date. From this article it appears that he had seen besides the lists previously mentioned, a collection made by Mr. Williams' assistant (George Davis) for the following years: 1754, 1757, 1768, 1778, 1779, 1781 and 1783 (Lower School only). Further Mr. Stapylton had seen a list for 1764, lent by Mr. Jesse, a roll for 1766, belonging to Sir W. S. Trelawny, a list for 1788 (of which the origin is not mentioned), and one for 1789 lent by Archdeacon Holbech.

1889. Mr. R. M. Harvey presented a list for 1764 to the College Library. In the second edition of the "History of Eton College," published this year, Sir H. C. Maxwell Lyte mentions a list for 1766 existing at Belvoir Castle.

1890. In the Report of the Historical MSS. Commission, published this year, Mr. Le Fleming's list for 1761 is mentioned.

1891. At the Eton Loan Exhibition the following lists made their appearance (among others already mentioned):

No. 412. MS. volume of Eton Lists 1763–69, lent Mr. G. E. Lloyd Baker.

No. 413. Absence Roll, lent by the Earl Brownlow. (No date is given, and I can learn nothing of this item.)

No. 414. Absence Roll, lent by Mr. Wyndham S. Portal. (This is for 1769.)

No. 415. Absence Roll 1771, lent by Mr. C. Chute.

No. 416. Absence Roll 1772, lent by the Earl of Darnley.

1895. When Mr. Stapylton presented during this year his collection of MS. transcripts to the College Library, it contained in addition to those previously mentioned, transcripts of two lists in the College Library both dated 1773 (one of which however is really for 1774), of lists for 1782, 1783, 1785 also in the College Library, and of a list for 1782, lent by Rev. J. W. Hawtrey.

1899. Mr. C. W. Holgate, in his book "Winchester Long Rolls 1653–1721," p. 184, mentions that the item described in the third Report of the Historical MSS. Commission, p. 276, as "1707 Narrow paper roll, 8 or 10 feet long. Names of persons in Winchester School," is really an Eton list.

1901. I came across a MS. list for 1762 bound up at the beginning of a volume of printed School Lists, 1791–1810, in the possession of Messrs. Spottiswoode & Co.

1903. Mr. A. B. Ramsay and others presented a roll for 1769, purchased from Mr. W. G. Griffith, to the School Library.

Mr. R. S. de Havilland bought from a Reading bookseller lists for 1753 and 1754.

1904. I was lent by Mr. R. Orlebar lists for 1747, 1753 (2), 1754; by Sir L. Jones, lists for 1756, 1757 (2), 1758, 1759, 1760, 1761 (2); by Miss Ellison, two lists for 1761; by Mr. V. F. Tufnell, a roll for 1766; by Rev. J. H. Snowden, a roll for 1773. In addition I discovered a list for 1706 in the British Museum (Harl. MSS. 7025, f. 135), and was allowed to see at the Record Office a list (of which one quarter was missing) belonging to the Duke of Rutland, for 1762. Mr. Lionel Cust also kindly sent me a transcript of a list for 1781 belonging to Lord Darnley, and of a fragment of a list for 1758 belonging to Lord Brownlow.

1905. I was lent a roll (part of which is missing) for 1766 by Mr. L. V. Harcourt; by Mr. J. E. Eastwood a roll for 1728; Sir R. Payne-Gallwey also informed me that he possessed a list for 1766.

1906. Rev. G. R. Dupuis sent me a transcript of a list for 1698 in his father's (G. J. Dupuis') handwriting.

For 1781 in the Gentleman's Magazine for January 1832.

Lastly the following lists, believed to have existed at one time or another, have temporarily at any rate disappeared:

For 1752, belonging to Lord Romney.

For 1754, belonging to Mr. R. N. Cust.

For 1772, belonging to Lord Darnley.

For 1782, belonging to the late Rev. J. W. Hawtrey.

HEADINGS ON THE LISTS.

The most common heading is "Bill of Eton College," or "Bill of Eton School," though the word "List" not unfrequently occurs. The lists for 1745 and 1756 are styled "A Bill of Eton College and School." It may be remarked here that in the small School List published at the end of each Half, which is the lineal descendant of the first printed list of 1791, the list is styled "A List of Eton College," but the list of boys on p. 11 is headed "Eton School."

Though the term "Bill" occurs in the last list printed in this volume, viz. for 1790, the expression was discarded in favour of "List" when the names were printed for the first time in 1791, and has never reappeared, though "Bill" is found in the MS.

volume as late as Election 1797. The expression "Bill," however, still survives in the Eton vocabulary, e.g. "A 'Bill' off Absence," and in the less pleasant sense of being "in the Bill."

At Harrow the earliest lists of the school that survive are styled "Bills," and to this day at Harrow "Bill" is as well known as "Absence" at Eton. Though some of the Eton Lists are in the form of rolls, I do not think the expression "Roll of the School" is ever to be met with.

METHOD OF PRODUCTION.

It is difficult to say exactly how the School Bills were made out, but the extant MS. lists may be roughly divided into three classes, those written (1) by boys, (2) by writing masters (probably), (3) by headmasters. With regard to the first class, in days when there were sometimes 500 boys in the School, it must have been impossible for any one to have known the order of the boys by heart. Some light is thrown on the method of compilation by a letter dated July 7, 1698, from Thomas Rawlinson to his father, in which he says, "As for the Bill of the boys' names which I promised to send you in my first, the great alteration in the school by the new boys coming which are very numerous and the old ones going away hath put me to a stop till I got the bills of every form singly; as soon as ever I have got them I will send them." (Rawlinson MSS. 862, 101 in the Bodleian.)

Having borrowed copies of the bills for each form, a boy would then proceed to copy them out in order usually on a sheet of foolscap. Such a modus operandi will account for various errors found, e.g. Toote for Foote, Paylor for Reylor. But in other cases the spelling appears to be phonetic, and it would seem that the names must have been written down as they were called out, perhaps at Absence time.

The second class of list gives evident trace of having been written by persons who practised calligraphy as a fine art. The flourishes and twirligigs to be found in lists of about 1760–1770 could scarcely have been written by anyone but a writing-master. Nor is there anything improbable in this supposition: the late Mr. Holgate was confident that the long rolls at Winchester were written by the writing-master, while at Harrow, where the lists were not printed till 1845, nearly all those preserved in the Vaughan Library for the early part of the nineteenth century are said to be in the handwriting of Mr. J. F. Marillier, Writing and Mathematical Master from 1819–1869. And there is the further evidence that the first printed list at Eton (for 1791) was "Published (by Permission) By W. Hexter," who was writing-master until 1842. No doubt Eton writing-masters were able in this way to add somewhat to their incomes, and probably continued to do so till long after the lists had come to be printed, for I have met with lists written out in a formal hand till as late as 1820.

With the third class of lists we do not become acquainted until 1775 (the date of the first of those in the bound volumes in the College Library), but it is likely enough that it was the custom at a much earlier date for the Head Master to prepare a list for the Provost. From 1775 to 1790, although many of the Lists of the Lower School, in the instances where separate lists for it have survived, are undoubtedly in the handwriting of the Lower Master (Dr. Langford), the complete lists for the School do not seem to be in the Head Master's hand, and I suspect that he employed a boy to write them out and contented himself with supervising the result and perhaps adding the date. This would account for the occasional insertion of names, and for the fact that the date is so frequently added in another hand. Later on in the days of Goodall's and Keate's rule, the lists are nearly always in the handwriting of the Head Master.

With regard to the lists in roll form, I am not able to throw any light on their origin or use. It is possible that in early times the official school list, which it is but reasonable to suppose existed in some shape or other, took this form. The form indeed may have been borrowed from Winchester, where it existed at least as early as 1653. Or it is possible that rolls were specially prepared for the purpose of calling "Absence." In this connexion it may be remarked that Items Nos. 413–416 in the Eton Loan Exhibition of 1891 are described in the Catalogue as "Absence Rolls," but I do not know that there is any actual proof that they were used for such purpose, for which they cannot have been particularly convenient.

DATES OF THE LISTS.

The most common date at which lists were made out was without doubt Election time, but as some of the lists included in this volume are obviously written out by boys, they might be made at any time which might suit a boy's whim, or his father's request. Where the lists are dated by the original scribe no difficulty arises, but the case is not so simple where the list contains no date, or where the date has been added at a subsequent period; for it often happens that the wrong date has been affixed. The only way, and it is often a rough way, of dating such lists is by placing them between the time when the boy at the top of College got King's and the time when his predecessor did. The date of admission to King's can be obtained from the archives of King's College, and the dismissal from Eton usually took place about ten days previously. Between 1688 and 1713 the list can also be dated by the admission of the Collegers, for which the date is given in the College Register.

FORMS.

In the earliest known account of Eton, namely that apparently furnished for the benefit of the grammar school at Saffron Walden in c. 1530 by Richard Cox, as well as in the Consuetudinarium by William Malim written in 1560, there were seven forms beginning with the seventh and ending with the first, and it is reasonable to suppose that this was the original number of forms in existence at Eton, as it would be the simple and obvious way of grouping the seventy scholars. The same number seems to have existed at Winchester, whence Eton borrowed so many of her customs (see the account, also furnished for the school at Saffron Walden, by John Twychener, c. 1530). It may be remarked here that, supposing seven to have been the conventional number of forms in old times, few of the older schools now go beyond a sixth. Westminster, however, is an exception, still having a seventh, while St. Paul's has even an eighth.

After the lapse of nearly four centuries since Cox's time, we find that there now exist at Eton a Sixth, Fifth, Remove, Fourth and Third Form (neglecting all sub-divisions for the moment). Thus it will be seen that in the course of some 350 years the Forms have suffered a diminution at either end, besides an interpolation in the middle. In 1678, the date of the earliest extant list, we find a 6th, 5th, 4th, 3rd, 2nd, and Bible Seat, which must be taken as synonymous with First Form, whenever it does not form a separate subdivision. The Seventh has already gone; it is less usual for the higher forms to disappear than for the lower, and one can only imagine it to happen owing to a very unusual number of boys leaving at the top of the School. Exactly when the Seventh disappeared at Eton is impossible to say, but a likely time would perhaps be during the Civil Wars, when a great many of the bigger boys may have gone off to fight. The Seventh Form had similarly disappeared at Winchester c. 1650, for the Sixth is the highest form mentioned in the poem long attributed to Christopher Johnson, Head Master 1561–1571, but now known to have been written during the Headmastership of John Pottinger (or Potenger), who was Head Master 1643–1653.

It is a common occurrence to find that the lower forms at a school have disappeared, and this has doubtless been due in part to the rise of preparatory schools, which have led to boys going at a much later age to public schools. But even before the days of preparatory schools, we find a similar process in operation at Winchester, where as early as 1653 the only forms remaining are the 6th, 5th and 4th (and since then the 4th has disappeared). At Eton, however, the 2nd and 1st forms remained until 1869–1870.

Simultaneously with the disappearance of the top and bottom forms, a practice has sprung up of interpolating one or more forms. At Eton this form was called "Remove," at Westminster "Shell," and other schools have not been slow to adopt the practice. Thus at Harrow and Shrewsbury we find both a Shell and a Remove, at Rugby a Shell, at St. Paul's a Remove, at Merchant Taylors' and St. Paul's a Transitus Form.

It is difficult to explain the necessity for the introduction of these forms, except either on the theory that an extra form was needed, or that such a form as the Remove indicated originally a probationary or intermediate stage. This expression in its latter-day sense is first found in the list for 1718, though there seem to be traces of the existence of such a form both in the 1706 and 1707 lists. But in the sense of promotion the word is found at least as early as 1609, for we read in a letter of that date,* "[Phil Litton] hath stept a forme higher at this Christmas remove, and is now under the Schoolemaster's tuition." Also the "Lag Remove" as part of Third Form occurs in the list for 1698.

SUB-DIVISIONS OF FORMS.

The list for 1698 is the first to give us any definite names for sub-divisions of forms. In it we find Third Form divided into six portions: the first merely bears the general title of Lower School, and then follow "Lower Greek," "Nonsense," "Scan and Prove," "Prosodia" and "Lag Remove." Of these, "Scan and Prove" and "Prosodia" appear in no other lists that I have ever seen, but in his MS. account of Eton Discipline written in 1766 Thomas James mentions the lessons studied by both these divisions. Thus he tells us both "Scan and Prove" and "Prosodia" did the same lessons as "Sense," with the exception that the former, instead of making sense verses, scanned and proved ten lines in Ovid's Electa, while the latter said instead a page in Prosodia, which they learnt at the end of the week. In the list for 1718 we find Second Form divided into two divisions, the first bearing the general title of Second Form and the second being called "Lower Remove." In the list for Jan. 30, 1753, Fourth Form is divided into a 1st, 2nd and 3rd Remove; Third Form into six removes, and Second Form into two. This was for the future the usual system. The six removes of Third Form had the following names assigned to them: Upper Greek, Lower Greek, Sense, Nonsense, Lag (or Lower) Remove and Unplaced. These names are by no means always given in the lists, but the first time they all appear is in the list of 1781.

Similarly Second Form was divided into an Upper and Lower Remove.

From the MS. book of Thomas James, afterwards Head Master of Rugby, we know what lessons these various forms did: that boys began Greek Grammar in Lower Greek; that Sense acquired its name because "some sense was given and rendered into Latin verse," whereas Nonsense did the same as Sense, except that "on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5 they made 6 nonsense verses out of a page of Terence, and Saturday at 11 they also made some nonsense verses."

The Last Remove in Third Form as well as Second Form devoted their energies to Latin Grammar and Translation, while First Form learnt nothing but Latin Grammar: the latter seem, according to James, to have been divided into two portions, the upper of which learnt "Syntax et as in praesenti" and did simple exercises, rendering three sentences at the beginning of Exempla Minora into Latin, while the lower portion said "Propria quae maribus" and the Accidence, and did no exercise.

These curious names were no doubt a source of bewilderment to a good many parents; for instance we find the Countess of Courtown writing to her uncle, the Earl of Ailesbury:*

July 1, 1785: Courtown.

In about a fortnight I shall be expecting Richard, whom I shall think a great addition to our party. He writes me an excellent letter saying he has been sent up three times for good for making nonsense verses and that now he is put into sense. I believe one must be an Etonian to understand this language.

These names did not disappear from the printed lists until Election 1860.

The practice of calling forms by the lessons they learned obtained at other schools, and thus we find in the eighteenth century at Harrow a "Scan and Prove," "The Ovid Class," "Phaedrus," "Upper Selectae," "Under Selectae," "The Nomenclature," "The Grammar Class," "The Accidence," "Selectae e Profanis," "Ovid," "Selectae e veteri," "Nomenclator," "Terence," etc. Cf. too "Grecians" and "Great and Little Erasmus" at Christ's Hospital.

UPPER SCHOOL AND LOWER SCHOOL.

In Malim's time, as it was impossible to divide seven forms between the two schools, the middle or fourth form seems to have been a kind of sandwich form, for the Usher took it with the three lower forms at early school, and then handed it over to the Master who took it with the three higher forms. The disappearance of the seventh form probably resulted in the fourth being definitely made part of the Upper School, as it appears in the list for 1698, the first which marks off the Lower School.

The two schools were almost distinct organisations in the eighteenth century. The Lower Master chose and paid his own Assistants (who scarcely ever became Upper Assistants), held his own "chambers," and took an annual fee of four guineas from all boys in the Lower School, who paid nothing to the Head Master, except an entrance fee. Twice a year, once at the beginning of March, and again towards the end of September, boys could get their remove into the Upper School, and Dr. Barnard's entrance book gives the list, usually containing about thirty names, of those boys who "came into the Upper School" on each occasion. Certain initiatory rites on the part of the boys attended the promotion from Upper Greek to Fourth Form. Thus among the customs mentioned in the Nugae Etonenses of 1766 is that of "pelting the Upper Greek on their going into the Upper School." This practice developed into what was known as "booking" in Keate's time, or the practice of hitting over the head with the book each boy who made his way for the first time up the staircase into the Upper School.*

* 15th Report of the Hist. MSS. Commission, App. Pt. VII. p. 241.

The numbers of the Lower School, which in the early part of the eighteenth century frequently exceeded those of the Upper School, began to decline about the year 1785, and it was finally abolished as a separate organisation under the new statutes in 1869, but names fortunately often survive actualities, and the office of Lower Master still survives. From 1870 till 1905 he held a limited jurisdiction over the Fourth and Third Forms, himself teaching the first division of the Fourth Form, and since Michaelmas 1905, keeping his former jurisdiction, he teaches the Second Division of the School. The separate chambers of the Lower Master were given up under Dr. Okes' lower-mastership, and W. A. Carter was the last who chose his own assistants.

THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE NAMES.

The usual arrangement of the most complete lists is as follows:

(1) The Staff (i.e. Provost, Fellows, and Masters).

(2) The Collegers.

(3) The Oppidans.

But in many lists no Staff is given: in one list alone, that for 1742, which is certainly written by a boy, the Staff are put at the end of the list. Similarly the Collegers are once found after the Oppidans (in a list for 1757), and of course they are frequently found intermingled with the Oppidans, sometimes distinguished by the initial "C." and at other times not at all.

THE STAFF.

The list of officials, where it is given, varies but little in the offices mentioned. The order is almost invariably, (1) Provost, (2) Vice-Provost, (3) Fellows, (4) Upper Master, (5) Lower Master, (6) Assistants, sometimes divided into Upper and Lower. Sometimes, however, the latter part runs, (4) Upper Master, (5) Upper Assistants, (6) Lower Master, (7) Lower Assistants.

The only occasions where other dignitaries are mentioned are:

(a) The list for 1745, which gives the Visitor at the top of the list, viz. Dr. Thomas, Bishop of Lincoln, and the Conducts, viz. Mr. Bostock and Mr. Hudgate (i.e. Huggett), after the Lower Assistants.

* Lyte's "History of Eton College," p. 599.

(b) The list for 1781 printed in the Gentleman's Magazine for January 1832, which gives the Provost of King's (Dr. Cooke) after the Provost of Eton.

(c) A list for 1788 (origin unknown), which gives, after the Fellows, "Busers" (i.e. Bursars) Rev. Dr. Norbury and Rev. Mr. Tew, who were two of the Fellows.

In addition this list gives the names of the Private Tutors, Dames and Extra Masters; while the list printed in the Gentleman's Magazine likewise gives the list of Private Tutors.

THE PROVOST.

The following is the list of Provosts for the period covered by the lists:

1665–1681, Richard Allestree.
1681–95, Zachary Cradock.
1695–1732, Henry Godolphin.
1732–46, Henry Bland.
1746–65, Stephen Sleech.
1765–81, Edward Barnard.
1781–91, William Hayward Roberts.

During the period under review, the Provostship ceased to be looked on as a mere piece of political patronage, and after Godolphin's time began to be regarded as the natural promotion either for a Fellow or for the Head Master.

VICE-PROVOST AND FELLOWS.

During the eighteenth century, the Fellowship gradually became confined almost entirely to Eton and King's men. There were however a few notable exceptions, among whom may be mentioned William Berriman, 1727–50, who was educated at Merchant Taylors' School and Oriel College, Oxford, and was the founder of the Berriman Exhibition: John Burton, 1733–1771, who was at Corpus Christi College, Oxford, the well-known divine: William Hetherington, 1749–78, at Eton but not at King's, who built the Chapel of Ease at Eton: and Thomas Barnard, 1772–8, whose only claim seems to have been that he was brother of Dr. Barnard, for he himself was neither at Eton nor King's and had spent many years in the Barbadoes.

THE UPPER MASTER.

Originally the "Master" par excellence described in the Statutes, as "Informator" by Malim, he came to be known as Upper Master, and finally as Head Master. In the list for 1698 he and the Lower Master are both described as "Masters."

In a list of Provost, Fellows and Masters given by Rawlinson* (c. 1710) Newborough is called "Chief Master." In 1742 we find "Head Master," and this is interesting as the list is written by a boy. The title does not reappear, except in the list for 1788 of which the origin is unknown, until the lists were first printed at Election 1791, since which date "Head Master" has always obtained.

During this period, all the Head Masters with the exception of Rosewell and Barnard were King's men. A good many of them too had been Assistants before they became Head Masters, though Rosewell, Snape, Bland and Barnard seem to have been exceptions.

HEAD MASTER'S EMOLUMENTS.

For the income and fees of an Eton Head Master in the eighteenth century we have two sources of information. In the first place there exists a paper in Warden Bigg's handwriting, written c. 1732.† From this we learn that he had two allowances, one of £50 and the other of £12, commons and lodgings reckoned as £30 for the year, spare chambers let to boys, which usually brought in £8 per annum. In fees he received one guinea entrance of all boys both in the upper and lower school, and an annual gratuity,

* Rawlinson MSS. B. 267 (Bodleian).

usually of 4 guineas, from boys in the upper school. This fee however was never demanded, and it was reckoned that about a third of the boys paid nothing.

In the second place, Dr. Barnard's account book has survived, and from it we learn that in 1754 the charges for schooling were unchanged, being £4 4*s*. a year, £2 2*s*. a half year and £1 1*s*. a quarter, noblemen being charged double. Entrance fees varied from £1 to £10 10*s*., but the ordinary fee was £2 2*s*. The Head Master's official stipend was still the same, viz. £62, and in addition he received the following fees from each boy, which were known as "Gatherings":

Michaelmas Sweeping	0	0	4
Christmas Firing and Candles and Sweeping	0	3	4
Lower School Candles and Sweeping ..	0	1	10
Lady Day Firing and Sweeping	0	1	10
Midsummer Sweeping	0	0	4

From these fees he received in a year from October 10, 1754, to September 29, 1755, the following sums:

1754.	Oct. 10.	For Schoool Sweeping	5	14	0
		Given to Captain	0	5	0
	Dec. 7.	For Fire and Candles	41	0	0
1755.	Mar. 21.	Collection for Fire and Sweeping	17	3	6
	July	Collection for Sweeping ..	5	10	0

During the same period, the Head Master received £10 10*s*. for various Chambers and Studies, which were no doubt his original apartments at the west end of Long Chamber which he still let out. The studies seem to have been always let to Collegers.

What the Head Master made out of his "Gatherings" cannot be known, for it is to be presumed that he had to supply in return fires and candles in the winter months, and to provide for the sweeping out of the school.

Besides the above, the Head Master had one more source of income in the leaving presents, which seem to have ranged from £2 2*s*. upwards, though they often consisted of books.

Writing in 1793 to Samuel Butler, Dr. James, the ex-Head Master of Rugby, says, "you know we have here no farewell presents; whereas the Master of Eton, you will find, by the custom of the place, receives a present of three, four, ten, twenty, etc., guineas (according to circumstances) from every boy that leaves his school in the upper part and not being on the Foundation."*

There is an instance of one boy, Baker, paying as much as £50, and the amount of income derived from this source reached the sum of £411 in 1763.

In addition to this present, or possibly in lieu of it, was the custom, which seems to date from Dr. Barnard's time, of boys of good birth giving their portraits to the Head Master.

This custom was not apparently peculiar to Eton, for it had prevailed at Winchester about the years 1729–1733, when the School became so fashionable under Dr. Burton. The portraits hang at Winchester in the Second Master's dining-room.

The custom when initiated at Eton happened to coincide with the most glorious period of English portrait painting, and the result is that, owing to the various Head Masters bequeathing these portraits to the College, the Provost's Lodge contains a splendid collection of portraits by Reynolds, Romney, Gainsborough, Lawrence, Hoppner, Beechey, etc. The average price paid for a head and shoulders portrait by Reynolds is said to have been only £35.

Cole† states that Barnard's income was every year above £1500, but out of that he presumably had to pay five assistants £44 2*s.* apiece.

In addition, the Head Master no doubt lived rent-free, and the official residence during the greater part of the eighteenth century was the house in Weston's Yard next to that known now as Savile House. Thus George, Cooke, Barnard, Foster and Davies all lived here. Sumner on the other hand, who as Lower Master was occupying the southern half of Savile House, then divided into two, seems to have remained on as Head Master in the same house.

THE LOWER MASTER.

The Lower Master was originally known as the Usher (the Ostiarius of the Statutes), and Rawlinson in his list, mentioned above, still employs that title, but in the list for 1698 the title is "master." In 1718 however we find the modern title of Lower Master. This title however was changed to Sub-Master in the first printed list for 1791, and to Under-Master from 1792–1809, but in 1810 became once for all Lower Master.

The same document that gives the emoluments of the Master in 1732 also gives those of the Usher. We learn therefrom that he had only an allowance of £19 a year, that he had no right to any commons at all, but was nearly always invited to the Fellows' table, and paid nothing. That he had lodgings for himself, and let out studies besides to boys for about £6 a year, and that he received annual gratuities of four guineas from the Lower School, besides a guinea entrance from those under him.

In days when the numbers of the Lower School frequently exceeded those of the Upper, the post of Lower Master must have been reckoned distinctly good. He moreover chose his own assistants and even made a profit out of the transaction, if we may trust the following advertisement from the London Evening Post of November 9, 1731:

> Whereas Mr. Franc. Goode, under-master of Eaton, does hereby signify that there will be at Christmas next, or soon after, two vacancies in his school, viz. as assistants to him and tutors to the young gents; if any two gentlemen of either University (who have commenced the degree of B.A. at least) shall think themselves duly qualified, and are desirous of such an employment, let them enquire of John Potts, pickleman in Gracious Street, or at Mr. G.'s own house in Eaton College, where they may purchase the same at a reasonable rate, and on conditions fully to their own satisfaction.
> FR. GOODE.
> N.B.—It was very erroneously reported that the last place was disposed of under 40*s*.

The Lower Master continued to choose his own assistants and hold his own chambers until Dr. Okes' time.

The old Lower School gradually shrank in proportion as preparatory schools became more common, and boys came to Eton at a more advanced age. It was finally abolished by the new statutes of 1869.

The Lower Master had evacuated his original chambers, which were at the east end of the range and underneath Long Chamber, as early as 1718, for we find Mr. Carter, the Lower Master of that date, living in part of Savile House. As part of his chambers (or perhaps the whole) was used by College and known as Carter's Chamber, we may presume he was the first to evacuate these rooms. The Lower Master received rent for this room for a very long time.

THE ASSISTANTS.

Though only a Master and Usher were originally provided for the instruction of the Eton youth, as the numbers grew an increase in the teaching staff must have been needed. The first list of the staff that has survived is the list for 1698, where they are styled "Ushers." The next is that given by Rawlinson (B. 267, Bodleian), consisting of

Mr. Good	Mr. Simmonds
Mr. Wood	Mr. Curtiss
Mr. Beasley	Mr. Torrent
Mr. Antrobus

From internal evidence the date of this list must be between 1708 and 1711. Hereafter we find lists given in 1718, 1728, 1742, 1745, 1747, 1753–1754, 1756–7, 1759–1774, 1778–1782, 1788, and 1791 onwards.

Harwood too in his "Alumni Etonenses" mentions others who became Assistants, and it is therefore possible to compile the following list of Assistants for the eighteenth century. Those names placed within square brackets occur only in Harwood; the rest are to be found in the extant School Lists: where the dates of their coming and leaving are not certain, they are enclosed in round brackets. The initials following certain dates denote that they then became Head Master, Lower Master, or Fellow.

Most of the Assistants were drawn from King's College, but one gathers from Mr. Goode's advertisement that this qualification was unnecessary for the Lower School. At any rate, I find only two instances of Upper Assistants not being King's men, viz. Robert Antrobus in 1718, who had been at Peterhouse, and Dongworth, who had been at Magdalene College, Cambridge, in 1728. Of Lower School Assistants there is Burchett (1718), who had been at Peterhouse. Chair, who from his position in the list of "Ushers" in the list of 1698 was probably a Lower School Assistant, graduated in 1697 from King's, but seems to have been only a "poor scholar" there.

Lower Assistants were not usually promoted to the Upper School, but Edwards seems to have been an exception.

In their tutorial capacity Lower Assistants had pupils who were in the Upper School and vice versa.

As far as salary went, the post of an Assistant at Eton must have been a good one, at any rate while the School was under

Barnard. The fee for tuition at this period was £8 8*s.* a year, see William Pitt's bill in 1719* and Edward Southcote's bill in 1764.† The private account book of W. H. Roberts, afterwards Provost,* has been preserved, and is now in the College Library. In it he records that at "Christmas 1759 Dr. Barnard sent for me as Assistant to the School," and by the year 1764 he was receiving the following fees:

Mr. Sargent	130	0	0
Mr. Villiers	100	0	0

Sargent, Villiers and Cecil were no doubt private boarders that Mr. Roberts was allowed to take.

In 1767 Mr. Roberts did even better:

	£	s.	d.
Mr. Foster	50	0	0
Mr. Watsons	150	0	0
Mr. Sargent	50	0	0
Ld. Villiers	50	0	0
Mr. Chauvet	100	0	0

It will be observed that Dr. Foster, the new Head Master, had apparently raised the small sum he allowed the Assistants. As the numbers declined under Foster, the post of Assistant became necessarily less profitable, so that in 1770 Roberts was drawing only £359 6*s.* from pupils, and in the following year he was probably not sorry to become a Fellow.

The Assistants must have lived in some of the small tenements that abounded in Eton in earlier times, and for a glimpse into the amount of their accommodation we may turn to a letter from John Hawtrey to his brother Edward, just appointed an Assistant:‡

Eton, June 29, 1766.

Your chambers consist of two rooms without any furniture. The furniture for your Pupil Room may be bought here—any rubbish will serve, but the chairs and tables for your sitting-room you had better buy in London. Mr. Norbury used to sleep in his Pupil Room in a press-bed that shut up, made of wainscoat. I think you had better do the same. Take care to purchase a new one.

The Countess of Atkins sends her duty to you, and desires she may have the honour of waiting upon you; as her Ladyship is far advanced, I do not imagine you will fall in love with her, and therefore I would advise you to accept her service. Mr. Cole, the College barber, desires also that he may have the favor of dressing your wig, and my washerwoman to wash your linen. If you are not pre-engaged they will all do very well. Get an Assistant's wig and Bachelor's gown; but be sure bring no Pease Blossom coat. Mrs. Mary Young is very glad to hear of your arrival, and desired I would send her compliments to you.

Let me hear how soon you can possibly come to Eton. For my own part I do not conceive that Dr. Dampier will let you have the care of the third Form, but you may assure yourself I will go as far as I can upon that point, etc.

COLLEGERS.

Collegers are found in three different positions in these Lists.

(1) Coming altogether at the beginning.
(2) In groups at the head of each form.
(3) Scattered about among the Oppidans.

And it is worth mentioning that Collegers to this day may be found in each of these positions, e.g.

(1) All together at the beginning in the Absence Lists.
(2) Placed in groups above the Oppidans in Sixth Form and Liberty.
(3) Throughout the rest of the School scattered among the Oppidans.

Of the three systems, in the lists here printed, No. 1 is far the commonest, No. 2 only occurs in the lists of 1678, 1706 (mainly), and 1707. No. 3 is more frequent than No. 2, but not nearly so common as No. 1.

Before the lists came to be printed in 1791, I have seen no list in which the latter-day initials "K.S." are written, though the initials have apparently been interpolated in the printed lists for 1732 and 1745. Until the year 1788 I have come across no list containing the full term "King's Scholar." In the lists for 1788–90 the expression will be found. Before that, Collegers are either all written down under the heading of "Collegers," or if they occur among the Oppidans they are distinguished by the initial C. affixed to their names. The only exceptions are the lists of 1706, 1718, 1725, 1732, where Collegers are in no way distinguished from the rest of the School.

It is possible that the term King's Scholar, which was certainly familiar as early as 1661,* had fallen into desuetude and that it was revived out of respect to George III.'s interest in the School. Since 1791 "K.S." has always been the official designation of a foundation scholar, but colloquially the expression is still "Colleger," except when it degenerates into "Tug." College began to decline in numbers about 1760, and it is a slight blot on Barnard's reputation that when the School numbered over 500 under his vigorous rule, College should never have been full. There is indeed some ground for suspecting him of a dislike for College, for the mother of George Monk Berkeley says that when her son got into College Provost Barnard, who had been civil to him as an Oppidan, ceased to take any notice of him.

It will be found that boys who stood for College were generally already in the School as Oppidans: often they put off going into College till as late as possible, in fact till they were already high up in the School.

Instances may be met with where boys, after getting into College, reverted to the status of Oppidans (e.g. Portal, an Oppidan in 1769, a Colleger 1770–2, and an Oppidan again in 1773), and of course there are many instances where boys "gave by," i.e. gave up their nominations. Of these the most famous instance in the eighteenth century was George Canning, and his reasons for so doing will bear quoting:

Eton, Sept. 27, 1786.

I am now, my dear Sir, at the top of Eton School. I am the first of the Oppidants (Commoners you call them). I was to have been put on the foundation, but I did so much dislike the idea, and so evidently saw the great difference of behaviour and respect paid to the one situation in preference to the other that I prevailed on my uncle (being aided by the advice of Mr. Fox and Mr. Sheridan, who gave their opinions in my favour) to give up the idea. Hear some of my reasons and judge. A Colleger stays at Eton till Nineteen, then, if a vacancy falls out at King's College, Cambridge, while he is first in the School, he is translated thither, and enjoys an advantage of upon an average from first to last of about £50 p^{r} annum till he dies or marries: when a man goes into the Church the advantage is greater as he may chance by very good luck to get a living. These are the advantages. The contrary is—A Colleger rises much slower in the School and is consequently much later at the top; he stays till nineteen, an Oppidant till seventeen—two years or a year even to a man whose line is the bar, is surely an object: a Colleger may after all not go to King's if a vacancy does not fall: where then is the advantage? A Colleger among the boys even is not looked upon in near so respectable a light as an Oppidant: this was one of my principal reasons for my dislike. I gained my point, and have been some time in the 6th (the head) form.*

The election of Scholars, both for Eton and King's, took place by Statute between the Feast of St. Thomas of Canterbury (July 7) and that of the Assumption (August 15), and in practice usually fell in the last week of July or the first week of August. The panel consisted of the Provost, Vice-Provost and Head Master of Eton, together with the Provost of King's and two Posers from King's. Twenty-four boys were put on the Eton indentures, twelve on those for King's. The examination of candidates was purely formal, consisting of elementary questions which had to be answered in Latin. Election by merit was not introduced till 1844. Previously success was merely a matter of nomination, and according to Huggett (Sloane MSS. 4841, fol. 1) the electors nominated to the Eton indentures in the following order: the Provost of Eton chose the 1st, 3rd, 5th and 7th; the Provost of King's the 2nd, 4th, 6th and 8th; the Vice-Provost of Eton the 9th, 15th and 21st; the Senior Poser the 10th, 16th and 22nd; the Head Master the 11th, 17th and 23rd; and the Junior Poser the 12th, 18th and 24th. But Huggett does not say who nominated to the 13th, 14th, 19th and 20th places.

Royal influence was frequently exerted in Stuart times to get a boy nominated for College, but the electors seem to have been left alone in the eighteenth century.

OPPIDANS.

Little need be said of this branch of the School, except to note the various spellings of the word, viz. Oppidanes, Oppidants, Oppidents, Oppidans, etc. The expression is at least as old as 1561, for it occurs in Malim's "Consuetudinarium" and Sir Henry Maxwell Lyte notes having met with it in the Audit-book as early as 1557–1558.

In the eighteenth century, it is likely that a good many more boys came from Eton and Windsor than is the case nowadays, for in Barnard's account book there is a list containing names entitled "Windsor and Eton boys." Of one branch of the Oppidans it is necessary to say a little more, viz. Noblemen.

* Letter to Rev. H. Richman, Wykeham, Hants. See Charles Knight's Half hours with the best Letter Writers and Autobiographers.

NOBLEMEN, ETC.

Previous to the Civil Wars, boys of noble birth were in the habit of going to Eton as Commensals (i.e. Fellow Commoners), and in consequence taking their meals in Hall at the second table with the chaplain, usher and clerks. Though this privilege does not appear to have been revived, other privileges or distinctions are still to be met with in the eighteenth century. Thus it will be seen that it was a frequent habit to place peers at the head of their respective forms: but in this Eton never went quite to the length of Winchester, where in 1716 and 1717 the presence of the Duke of Hamilton and Brandon led to his being placed at the top of the whole school.

In the Eton List of 1678, but one nobleman appears, viz. Lord Alexander, who is at the top of Third Form. It should be noticed that his younger brother, Alexander mi., has no "Mr." prefixed to his name. In the next list (for 1698) we find the prefix "Mr." used to designate an "Honourable," and this custom has prevailed ever since. We find the same custom existing at Winchester in the seventeenth century, and at Harrow nowadays.

Another peculiarity with regard to the names of noblemen is that occasionally we find such names as "Lord Charles" without any surname following. From this we may fairly infer that their companions called them by such titles as "Lord Charles" and thus forgot to add the surname when writing the list.

Further, in the most formal lists we find noblemen's names written in red ink. A similar practice, but considerably extended, will be found existing on the Winchester Long Rolls, where gilt, scarlet and blue are all occasionally used.

The system of placing peers at the heads of their forms seems to have varied at times, and perhaps was never very strictly enforced. But originally they seem to have figured at the head of every form; in the next stage they are only at the head in Upper School and not Lower, with the exception of the First Form or Bible Class; and in the final stage they are at the head only in the removes of Fourth Form. The list of 1767 is the last which continues the practice in its final stage.

Other privileges (not indeed figuring in these School Lists) which survived still longer were the practice by which noblemen occupied the stalls in chapel, and the custom of the highest nobleman of each nationality presenting the Head Master with a badge on St. Patrick's, St. David's and St. Andrew's Day, and perhaps on St. George's (if it fell in school-time), and of the other noblemen dining with the Head Master on those days.

ADDITIONS TO NAMES.

Besides the addition of C. to denote Colleger, the list for 1742 has C. Prae. and C. P. to show the College praepostor, and similarly Op. Prae. and Op. P. to denote the Oppidan praepostors; and in the Holbech list for 1789 it seems that P. is added to the names of the first seven Collegers with a similar object.

There are a few instances of initials being prefixed to the names, e.g. the various boys of the name of Lewis in the list for 1770. Again a few names have crosses placed against them, perhaps denoting the writer of them, e.g. Hubbald in 1707; several names in 1742, and Baker in 1765.

In one list, that for July 1780, dashes made after various names (which have not been reproduced in the printed list) are said to denote that such boys had been confirmed on July 8, 1780.

BROTHERS.

The practice of discriminating between brothers during the period covered by these lists was by the addition of major, minor, minimus in varying forms of abbreviation. In a good many of these lists, however, brothers are not distinguished in any way. In one list alone that I have seen is the Winchester method of senior and junior employed, namely in the list in the Eton College Library for 1754.

As early as 1706 we meet with the custom which lingered at least as late as 1780 of describing two brothers thus: "Hunts 2." In those days, when locomotion was more difficult than at present, brothers, if at all near each other in age, often entered the school at the same time and were naturally placed next each other in the school. Thus on October 1, 1762, three of the Loraine family were admitted together; in 1754 we find in First Form the entry "Hills 3." Similar customs prevailed in other schools: thus in the Westminster list for 1732 two brothers are thus described: "Pickering's ambo." The record for brothers entering at the same time is as far as I know held by Rugby, where four brothers of the name of Wittewronge entered the school on January 13, 1707.

It is curious that the superlative maximus is scarcely ever used. It will be noticed in the list for 1771, and again in 1775 it occurs when out of six boys of the name of Fraser (or Frazer) two are designated max. ma. and max. mi., and the other four, max., ma., mi. and min. In other cases where there are more than three brothers in the same list, either the fourth is not distinguished in any way, or else is styled quartus as in the list for 1742.

PRIVATE TUTORS.

There can be little doubt that all through the eighteenth century it was quite usual for the sons of wealthy parents t come to Eton attended by a private tutor. The custom indeed survived much later, and may not be entirely extinct even now. In later times, however, a boy has been compelled to have an ordinary tutor as well, which does not seem to have been the case in the eighteenth century. The most famous instance of a private tutor was Barnard, who acquired such renown as tutor to the three Townshends at Eton that he was appointed Head Master in 1753 without ever having been an assistant. There are but two lists that I have seen giving any record of private tutors, and as neither of these is among those printed in this volume, it may be worth while quoting them.

(1) In the list for 1781 printed in the Gentleman's Magazine for January 1832, after the Assistants come:

"Private Tutors to Noblemen and others, not assisting in the School:

Mr. Luxmoore (afterwards Bishop of St. Asaph)—to the E. of Dalkeith.

Mr. Kelly—to the Marq. of Huntley.

Mr. Kerr—to the E. of Downe.

Mr. Hand—Mr. Butler.

Mr. Plumptre, afterwards Dean of Gloucester—to the Hon. Mr. Bathurst.

Mr. Cole—to the Marq. of Blandford.

Mr. Bayley—to the Hon. Mr. Montagu.

Mr. Norbury jun."

No pupil is assigned to Mr. Norbury.

(2) In the list for 1788 (origin unknown) after the Assistants come:

"Private Tutors.

Rev. Mr. Luxmore { Ld. Dalkeith. / — H. Montague.

Rev. Mr. Heslop, Honble. Mr. Stuart.
—— Hannington, Mr. Herbert.
—— J. Roberts, Ld. Morpeth.
—— Luxmore ju., Douglas's 2.
—— Hanger, Ld. Blantire and Mr. Stuart.
—— Hand, Liddell.
—— Freeman, Newcomen.
—— Norbury, Mr. Fitzmorris.
Mr. Walker, Ld. Tullibardine.
— Baker, Latouche's 2.
— Kitnar, Ld. Le Poer, and Mr. Beresford.
— Hayes, Ld. Brome."

EXTRA MASTERS.

In no instance are any masters teaching subjects that came to be called "Extras" to be found in the lists printed in this volume. For the fact that they existed, however, we have various evidence. Thus the parish register records the death of several persons who were writing masters.

Further, in "Nugae Etonenses," compiled c. 1766, we find the following list:*

Writing Masters.—Domine Evans, Hardy, Jem Jarrard.
French.—Lemoine, Porny.
Drawing.—Cozens.
Dancing.—Hickford.
Fencing.—Angelo.
Boxing.—The Nailor.
Jawing and Blackguard.—My Lord the Bargeman.

We shall probably be safe in assuming that the last two subjects were not included in the authorised school curriculum, and may restrict our attention to Writing, Drawing, French, Dancing and Fencing. Of these Writing had, no doubt, always been taught, and was indeed a necessary subject when boys came to school so young. When the other subjects first came to be taught cannot be said, but possibly Dancing was not taught until the Dancing School was built, c. 1750. This school became known successively as the Fencing School and the School of Arms, and was finally demolished in 1904.

These five subjects were probably the usual ones taught at public schools at this time: at any rate we find that at Rugby

* Etoniana (Magazine), No. 4, p. 61.

Saturday afternoon was a half-holiday, "and like other half-holidays is for writing, dancing, French, drawing, or even fencing."* Possibly, however, Thomas James imported some of these subjects from Eton.

At Harrow too, in the first list that survives, we find two writing masters, a dancing and a French master.

Extra masters were doubtless paid by extra fees, and we find a charge of £1 1*s.* for "Writing Master, half a year, May 24," charged in Walter Gough's Bill of 1725, and William Pitt charged £1 2*s.* for a similar period.

The list of 1788 (origin unknown) gives the following list:

Mr. Angelo, fencing master.
— Porny, French ,,
— Hexter, writing ,,
— Dore, dancing ,,
— Cooper, drawing ,, and they are regularly included after the Assistants when the lists came to be printed.

French and Drawing still continue to be taught, but the Writing Master, who had developed into Writing, Arithmetic and Mathematics, appeared for the last time in 1842, the Dancing Master and the Fencing Master at Michaelmas 1864.

DAMES.

Since the days of William Paston, who mentions his "hostess" in 1479, the Oppidans lived in various houses kept by boarding dames (a practice to be found in old days at Westminster, Harrow and Rugby), and it is not till the end of the eighteenth century that we find much trace of Assistants holding boarding-houses. In the first list of dames that has been preserved, and which occurs at the beginning of Dr. Barnard's account-book, we find seventeen dames enumerated, all of the female sex, and the introduction of male "dames" or "domines," as they were sometimes called, was perhaps not recognised till later and may have been the first step towards Assistants becoming boarding-house keepers. Indeed in the eighteenth century there can have been little inducement for Assistants to keep boarding-houses, since the fees were only about 20 to 25 guineas a year, which can have left but a small margin for profit, especially as the school terms then lasted for forty-two weeks in the year, as against thirty-seven at the present day. Some of the Assistants, however, took in a few favoured pupils for considerable fees; thus we find W. H. Roberts receiving £130 in 1764 for a boy of the name of Sargent, and other fees of £100 apiece for Cecil and Chauvet. Occasionally too in the case of boys of noble birth, a separate house would be taken for them, where no doubt they were under the supervision of some private tutor: for instance, we find a small house opposite College let in 1757 to the Earl of Hertford,* and the house in Weston's Yard, next to Savile House, let to the Duke of Marlborough from 1747–58.†

* "Life and Letters of Samuel Butler," Vol. I. p. 27.

The accommodation in the boarding-houses must have been scanty, if measured by latter-day requirements: in fact one may wonder how the 500 or more boys under Barnard were ever accommodated at all. A certain number of new houses, however, were built during the eighteenth century. Thus, we find Mrs. Slatter writing in 1754 that "Dr. Snape....about 20 or 30 years ago built 2 large Boarding-houses capable to receive and lodge a much larger number of children than there are there at present."‡ The dates and initials on the water-heads shew that these two houses were Jordley's and Godolphin House, built in 1722. Further the house at the south-east corner of Keate's Lane, so long in the possession of the Prior family, must from its appearance have been built during this century, while the house previously on the site of the New Schools and Baldwin's End (burnt in 1903) date from this century, and about 1788 Keate House and the house at present occupied by Mr. Kindersley were erected.

Some of the houses must have been of very small size, in fact in Barnard's book we find the numbers vary from Mrs. Pote, wife of the bookseller, who had one boarder, to Mrs. Mary Young and Mrs. Frances Yonge, who each had about thirty boarders respectively in the Manor House and in Jordley's.

After Barnard's time, we find the next list of dames in Nugae Etonenses, written in 1766. There under "Boarding Houses" come "Domine Evans, Hardy, Harding: Dame Milward, Key, Ely, Harris, Young—old and new, Graham, Hurd, Tyrrel, Newton." Two of the "domines," Evans and Hardy, were writing masters.

* Document in Woods and Forests Department, quoted in Etoniana (Magazine), No. 1, p. 5.

† College Lease-books.

‡ Etoniana (Magazine), No. 1, p. 3.

Finally in a list for 1788 giving the boys' tutors and dames, we find some boys boarding with at least seven out of the nine Assistants. But as nine is the most that any one Assistant had, the practice may still have been the exception rather than the rule.*

HOLIDAYS.

In Malim's day (1561) the only holiday time when boys regularly returned to their homes was from Ascension Day to the eve of the feast of Corpus Christi, a space of three weeks. Work was suspended at Christmas time from the 20th of December to Epiphany, and at Easter from the Wednesday before Easter to the end of Easter week, but at neither of these times could boys leave the School. We have here however the germ of the present day system of holidays, although the summer holiday is taken now somewhat later in the year.

Sir Henry Wotton alludes to this holiday in a letter to Lord Cork, dated July 4, 1636 :†

...this time of our vacation, when our school annually breaketh up two weeks before Whitsuntide and pieceth again a fortnight after.

In 1766 when Thomas James wrote his account of Eton Discipline, holidays are given as follows:

The Vacations are three times in the year, Easter, Xstmas and August, vulgarly called Bartlemetide, a most strange corruption from St. Bartholomew's name. The Xstmas Holydays last a month and the school breaks up the 2d Monday in December. The Easter Holydays last a fortnight, and the school breaks up on the Monday before Easter Sunday. The Holydays at August begin the first Monday in August and last a month.‡

The change in the date of the summer holidays was probably an innovation of Dr. Barnard, for in 1754 when he became Head Master, his entry book shews boys arriving at Eton all through August, but this does not happen in subsequent years.

NOTE ON THE PRINTING OF THE LISTS.

The arrangement and spelling of the original lists has been retained, but in a few cases, where the real name has been much distorted, and where I have been quite certain of the true spelling, I have added the latter enclosed within square brackets.

NOTES ON THE LISTS.

In the Bodleian Library, Oxford (Rawlinson MS. B. 266), in a volume labelled "Rawlinson's History of Eton College, vol. ii. fol. 146, 4to." The list is written (evidently by Rawlinson himself) on three sides of a quarto sheet of paper, and is generally, but not always, easy to decipher. It was printed by the Rev. W. L. Collins in his book "Etoniana," pp. 216–220, ed. 1865, but not, I think, always quite correctly: for instance, Mr. Collins prints "Baston," "Tath," "Fenmore," "Wetton," "Cleas," "Hawpey," "Cheasey," "Lutley," where I think the correct names are "Barton," "Tash," "Farmore," "Weston," "Cheas," "Hawtrey," "Cheaney" and "Luttey." A few other names I have marked with queries. The list contains no Provost, Fellows, or Masters, but only the names of the boys arranged in six classes (counting the Bibler's Seat as the First Form). The classes, except the sixth and the last, are divided into Collegers and "Oppidanes." There appear to be seventy Collegers, but as all the boys in the Sixth Form were subsequently elected to King's, and must therefore have been in College at Eton in order to be eligible, commentators on the list have been puzzled to account for the apparent presence of seventy-eight Collegers. It is possible however, by a careful examination of the Eton Register, which shews approximately at what date boys entered and left College, to find out more or less accurately what boys ought to have been in College in 1678. The conclusion I have come to is that in none of the divisions labelled Collegers were all the boys really in College.

To begin with the Sixth Form, which is labelled neither Colleger nor Oppidan, all the eight boys in it but "Ogdin" (more properly "Ogden") were on the indentures of 1678 for King's, and there can therefore be no doubt these seven were at this date in College. "Ogden" was fourth on the Eton College indentures in 1678, and as Bury (the boy just above him) does not appear as a Colleger in this list, I imagine Ogden must still have been an Oppidan. Of the Fifth Form Collegers, I find no boy of the name of "Pagitt" in the Eton College Register at this time: on the other hand there ought to be, but is not, a Colleger of the name of "Pate" in the list, so possibly "Pagitt" may be a mistake for "Pate." I doubt also if "Brabourne mi." was a Colleger. Of the Fourth Form Collegers all are correct with the exception of "Woodward" and "Preston," who must, I think, have been Oppidans. There should probably, however, be two boys of the name of "Staples." Of the Third Form Collegers, "Pain" and "Rendall" seem to have been Oppidans. Of the Second Form Collegers, only "Poole" and "Crouch" were really in College.

On the other hand there should be Collegers of the names of "Hensman," "Thraile," "Allen," and "Waddon." "Waddon" was fifth on the King's indentures for 1678, but does not seem ever to have gone to King's, and three crosses are put against his name: possibly he died at Eton before this list was made out.

Leaving out "Ogden," "Brabourne min.," "Woodward," "Preston," "Pain," "Rendall," and the seven boys below "Crouch" in Second Form, we get sixty-five Collegers. "Hensman," "Thraile," "Allen," "Waddon," and a second "Staples" would make up the number to seventy.

With regard to the number of boys in the list, including the one boy in the Bibler's Seat, the numbers should be 198, or 207 if the nine boys at the end are included. The number given, "about 202," splits the difference as near as may be. Why the last nine boys are thus inserted, it is impossible to say. Perhaps they were "unplaced," or absent, or omitted by the writer from their proper place. It has also been suggested that they were Choristers, of whom there were always ten who took their meals in Hall before the Civil Wars. But as "Buckler" seems from some notes in the same MS. volume to have been the son of Sir Christopher Buckler, I think this last explanation is unlikely, as the Choristers would probably be drawn from a lower class.

It will be seen that a few names have notes after them viz. "Price (Sr. John)," "Dashwood (Sr. Rob.)," "Conway (Sir John)," "Raymund (Sr. Jemmatt)," "Puliston (Sr. Rod.)." Mr. Sterry[1] however shews that Raymund was not knighted till 1680, and Dashwood not till 1682. The notes however seem to have been written at the same time as the list itself.

Taking all these facts into consideration, it seems most probable that the list was written, perhaps partly from memory, at least as late as 1682.

The School does not appear to have been particularly fashionable at this period. There are very few boys of title, the only nobleman being Lord Alexander, the son of the Earl of Stirling. Alexander mi., who presumably was his younger brother, is not distinguished by the prefix of "Mr."

[1] Annals of Eton, by Wasey Sterry, p. .

The date of the list must be between Herbert's admission to King's on Aug. 24, 1678, and that of Adams on Feb. 8, 167$\frac{8}{9}$.

The Head Master in 1678 was John Rosewell, who is said to have greatly increased the reputation of the School.

A few notes on the names are to be found in the same MS. volume, but they are extremely brief.

Appendix I., p. 256. From a transcript (of which the original has disappeared) in G. J. Dupuis's handwriting, now in possession of his son, Rev. G. R. Dupuis, of Sessay Rectory, Thirsk. The transcript is in the form of a foolscap octavo book of twelve pages, of which the list, written in double columns, occupies some nine pages. The heading is "Eton College. A.D. 1698." The Staff is given, and the list has this peculiarity that after the Fellows it gives the Upper and Lower Master under the heading of "Masters." Then follow the Assistants, but under the unusual heading of "Ushers." In the Sixth Form the Collegers are given before the "Oppidents." Then come "Collegers—5th Form," but without any break to show where the Oppidans begin; the break should apparently be after "Hanson," the thirteenth name, but a good many Collegers are scattered about among the remainder of the Fifth Form. Next comes "4th Form," headed by "Mr. Paston" and "Mr. Darcey," followed by seventy-one names not divided into Collegers and Oppidans. After these however comes a heading "4 Form Oppidents," with twelve noblemen at the top followed by twenty-seven names, some of which are certainly those of Collegers. The arrangement of Fourth Form is not therefore very intelligible and the easiest explanation (if the transcriber followed the original correctly) is that it consisted of two removes, and that the word "Oppidents" at the head of the second is a mistake.

The next heading is "Lower School," under which general title come seventeen names, then "Lower Greek," "Nonsense" (with only one name), "Scan and Prove," "Prosodia" and "Lag Remove": finally "2 Form," with four noblemen preceding fifty-two names. Thus no First Form or Bible-seat is indicated.

The various sub-divisions of the Third Form (which is not mentioned by name) are interesting. They show that it was divided into six parts from very early times. "Upper Greek," though not mentioned, is presupposed by "Lower Greek," but the absence of "Sense" is odd, while "Scan and Prove" and "Prosodia" occur as names in no other extant list, but Thomas James in his MS. Account of Eton Discipline in 1766[1] mentions the lessons learnt by each of these divisions.

The date of the list must be between January 19, $169\frac{7}{8}$, and April 30, 1698, the dates when Edlin and Plucknett were dismissed respectively to King's. Willis, who heads the list, should come below Plucknett, whom he follows on the indentures for King's for 1697. According to the dates in the Eton Register of Admissions only four of the boys on the Eton indentures for 1697 had been admitted to College when the list was made out, but as "Edlin," who created the fifth vacancy (filled by "Cotterell"), had already gone to King's (for he is not in the list) I imagine "Cotterell" must already have got into College.

We can discover from the same Register what Collegers ought to have been in the School at this date, with the result that supposing "Mannington," "Torret," "Bothwell" and "Wendigate" to be mistakes for "Maningham," "Torrent," "Rothwell" and "Wingate," sixty-eight Collegers can be accounted for. The two remaining ones, "Errington" and "Hayward," seem either to have been omitted or to have been away at the time (they did not leave till 1701-2). Some interest attaches to Errington owing to the following note that appears to his name in the Register for Election 1696. "Francis Errington (in the 12th place) brought no certificate of his age, there being no Register thereof by reason of his father being a Roman Catholick and [having] had him baptized by a Romish priest, but upon the solemn affirmation of Mrs. Errington, the child's mother, that he was but nine years old the 14th of February, 1695, he was admitted to stand and was nominated as abovesaid."

I have added "C." to the Collegers (except in the Sixth Form, "where they all come under one heading"): in cases where there is more than one boy of the same name, there must be some doubt which is the Colleger.

The numbers of the Lower School are wrongly given and should be 149 instead of 148: I suspect they were not given in the original list, but added by the transcriber. The transcriber has also placed crosses against some of the names, indicating, I imagine, that he was uncertain if he had copied them correctly.

[1] See the periodical Etoniana, No. 8.

He had placed "2" after "Hawse" in "Scan and Prove" but subsequently erased it. Notice that where two brothers come together they are written thus: "Points 2," which we shall find to be a very common practice in the MS. lists.

1706 In the British Museum (Harl. MS. 7025 f. 135). This being the first of some half dozen lists, of which all the others belong to Westminster School, had long been tacitly assumed to belong to Westminster, though it has no indication upon it of belonging to any particular school. But happening to look out of curiosity at these lists in November 1904, I was much struck with the number of Eton names that occurred in this list. At first I thought it merely shewed that the tide of fashion, which afterwards took these families to Eton, at this period took them to Westminster, which was then at the height of its fame, but a closer inspection made me almost certain that the list actually was an Eton List, and a comparison of it with the Orlebar list for 1707 proved this to be a fact.

The list itself is written on two sides of a half-sheet of foolscap, and is very badly spelt, which probably points to its being the work of a boy. Numerals denoting the names of the Forms are given at the bottom of each, and include a Sixth, Fifth, Fourth, Third, Second, and another not enumerated, which is no doubt the First (probably subdivided into a Bible-Seat beginning with "Mr. Howard"). Collegers are not distinguished from Oppidans in any way, but seem placed above them in their forms throughout the Upper School. The exception in the Fourth Form probably points to the boys from "Mr. Compton" to "Burton" being in Remove. Oppidans with titles are placed above other Oppidans. The names are numbered throughout. There is no heading of any sort, and the first name begins at the very top of the paper. At the end is the following note: "A copey of a list sent to West by Mr. Henry Drax: 1706." As a curious instance of an editorial mistake, it may be mentioned that Mr. Holgate, under the belief that the list was of Westminster, quotes the note, "A copey of a list sent to Westminster by Mr. Henry Drax." It is of course possible that "West" may be a contraction for "Westminster," but now that the list is known to be an Eton one, there is no reason to suppose it.

Sixty-nine Collegers are shewn in the list, "Snape," who should follow "Bilbe," and who was in College from 1702–1709, being omitted.

The date is between June 27 and August 31, 1706, when Norton and Hemming respectively got King's.

1707 Belongs to Mr. R. Orlebar, of Hinwick House, Beds. In the 3rd Report of the Historical Manuscripts Commission (c. 673), p. 276 Col. A, issued in 1872, upon Mr. Orlebar's MSS., is the following entry:

"1707—Narrow paper roll, 8 or 10 ft. long. Names of persons in Winchester School."

Mr. Holgate came across this entry, and on applying for the loan of the list, learnt it was a Roll of Eton, wrongly described. He further learnt that it had been given to Mr. Richard Longuet Orlebar about the years 1835–6 by Colonel Charles Hervey Smith, of Apsley House, Beds.

The Roll is 9 ft. 4 in. long by $2\frac{7}{8}$ in. wide, and only contains the names of the boys, without those of the Provost, Fellows or Masters. The names of the Forms come at the end of each, and consist of the Sixth, Fourth, Third, Second, and a final one, not named, but no doubt the First. It is evident that the scribe forgot to write "5 form" in its proper place, i.e. after "Tracey," for the fact that a block of Collegers follows "Tracey" shews that a new Form begins here. For the same reason a new Form should begin with "Humphris," and one may fairly conclude that the boys from "Lockett" to "Herne" belonged to Remove.

Each Form down to and including the Third Form is divided into Collegers and "Oppidents," the Collegers coming first. There were no Collegers below the Third Form. At the top of the Oppidans in each case come the boys with titles, the only exception being that in the Third Form the noblemen came above the Collegers. There was no such title as "Lord Buckcleare," who is at the top of the First Form, and Mr. G. E. Cokayne has suggested that "Buckcleare" is for "Beauclerk," meaning "Lord William Beauclerk," whose elder brother, "Lord Burford," appears at the top of Third Form.

The date of this list must be between November 6, 1707, when Sturges got into College, and January 20, $170\frac{7}{8}$, when Lee got in.

The full complement of seventy Collegers is shewn.

1718 In the Eton College Library. A Roll 9 ft. long by 3 in. wide. It was presented to the Library by Dr. Okes, Provost of King's College, Cambridge, on August 2, 1862.

It is entitled, "A Bill of Eton Schole, 1718." It is the first extant list in which we get a definite mention of "Remove" as a form.

The list does not look as if it had been written by a boy, and from the curious mistakes made was evidently compiled from some written original. Thus the scribe was unable to decipher correctly the seventh name on the list, and has written "Loshu" instead of "Lofting." It is not difficult to detect the mistakes in the case of Collegers, but unfortunately there is no certainty in the case of Oppidans. Another hand moreover has been over the list and made certain corrections and insertions, e.g. "Corbet," the thirty-sixth name in Fifth Form, has been inserted. The "tor" in "Procktor," nine names below, has been added. The sixth name in Remove, "Archer," has also been inserted in a later hand. The twentieth name in Lower Greek was originally "Mackman," but has been altered to "Blackman." After "Barcroft," the twenty-ninth name in the last remove of Third Form, the original scribe had written "Besher," which has been erased and "Bertie" written at the side, with a further insertion of "Wise" at the side. The second name in the Lower Remove of Second Form is written "Holstone," but the H has been underlined and an R put at the side. The sixteenth name in the Bible Seat was originally written "Libthong," which has been erased and "Sibthorp" put at the side.

The numbers at the end of the Forms are in a later hand: the final number 353 is wrong and should be 350.

The Collegers though not distinctively marked are at the head of their Forms in Sixth, Fifth and Remove, and probably of the various removes of the Fourth: in the Lower School they are mixed up with the Oppidans. Noblemen are above other Oppidans in Sixth, Fifth, Fourth, Second and First Forms, but not in Remove or Third Form.

Red ink is used for the lines dividing off the forms. Notice in Remove "Ld. Sidney," in Fourth Form "Ld. James," in Third "Ld. Charles" and in First "Ld. William," without the addition of any surnames.

There are sixty-six Collegers for certain. Going by the Admission Book it would seem that Raby, Burroughs, Love and another (whose name I cannot discover) are missing, but on the whole it seems more likely that the Admission Register is not very exact with regard to who made the vacancies, and that Dongworth, Winder, Pearce and Wilkinson had got in vice the four above.

But if so, it is odd that Dongworth is not with the other Collegers at the top of Remove.

1725 This list was first brought to light in 1890. Its appearance was the outcome of a letter about Eton Lists from Mr. Sterry to the Eton College Chronicle on July 3 of that year. In consequence Major Godsal wrote to Mr. Sterry sending him a transcript of a list in the possession of his uncle Mr. T. C. Garth (the well-known M.F.H.), which had been discovered during a recent visit of Major Godsal's to Haines Hill. Major Godsal says that the boys for whose parents' edification the list was evidently made out were the "Colletons," and that one of the Colletons docketed it in 1787, "List of Eaton School 1725."

The list is written on three sides of a sheet of foolscap, each page containing four columns of names. It is endorsed "List of Eaton School 1725," and bears in another place at the back the date July 1725. At the top of page 1, too, is written in a later hand "July 1725." There are the remains of a red seal on the fourth page. The handwriting is fairly good.

The Collegers are not distinguished from the Oppidans; the names of the divisions are given at the end instead of the beginning of each. Fourth Form contains four blocks, shewn by dotted lines, Third Form has three blocks, similarly shewn, First Form two. Boys with titles are grouped together at the top of their forms or blocks in the Upper School, but not in the Lower School, except in the second block of the First Form. The number of boys in each form is added up at the end of it, but has been wrongly added in the case of the Fourth Form, which should read 97, not 98. The totals given at the end for Upper and Lower School are however correct, but they are in a later hand. It may be noted that the names of brothers, where occurring together, are written out in full. Number of boys 378.

1728 This list belongs to Mr. J. E. Eastwood, of Enton, Witley, Surrey, and I first heard of its existence on January 28, 1905. On March 7 Mr. Eastwood kindly lent me the list, informing me that he had it from his uncle J. J. Bumpsted, who left Eton in 1838, and was afterwards Bursar of King's College, Cambridge. The list was originally a Roll, 9 ft. $3\frac{1}{8}$ in. long by 3 in. wide, but has since been cut up into five strips, pasted on a large sheet of paper, and placed in a glass frame. It is entitled "A Bill of Eton School, Nov. 2d, 1728," and is headed by the names of the Provost, Fellows and Masters: after these come the Collegers, of whom there are 71, and then the Oppidans. Boys with titles are put at the top of their forms in the Upper School, but not in the Lower, except in the Bible Seat. At the end of the list the names are added up thus: "Upper School 173, Lower School 205, Total 378." This however is not quite correct, for the numbers should be "Upper School 171, Lower School 205, Total 376." The handwriting is good and easy to read, but the spelling is occasionally at fault: the list is written in black ink, except that red ink is used to mark the divisions between the forms. It is curious that there should be 71 Collegers; probably the scribe inserted some one who in reality had left. In 5th Form "Milford" should probably be "Midford" or "Mitford."

1732 This list is to be found printed on pp. 78-81 of Vol. I. of the "Memoirs of Horace Walpole," by Eliot Warburton (London, 1851). In a footnote to p. 78 the editor acknowledges his thanks to Dr. Hawtrey for granting and to Viscount Castlereagh for requesting the loan of the document. No list of Provost and Fellows is given, nor are the names of the forms, but certain spaces in the printing evidently denote the beginning of the forms, of which there would appear to have been six. Boys with titles appear in groups in the early part of the list, thus no doubt conforming to the general rule that they were placed at the top of their forms in the Upper but not in the Lower School. Notes are added to certain names, and are presumably by Eliot Warburton: these I have eliminated in printing the list. Unfortunately the original of the list has quite disappeared. I suspect that the thirty-ninth name should be "Harvest" and not "Hawest."

1742 In the Bodleian Library (Gough, Bucks 6). This list was discovered by Mr. Sterry, in 1888, bound up in a copy of Harwood's Alumni Etonenses, which had belonged to Thomas Okes, a physician. It is written in a clear, boyish handwriting, across the front and back sides of a sheet of foolscap. The first page contains thirteen columns of boys' names, the second two, followed by one giving the names of the Provost, Fellows, Masters, Assistants, and a table of the numbers in each form. To the right of the third column is written "John North, December 21, MDCCXLII," whom we may assume to have been the writer of the list. His name will be found in the first remove of Fourth Form, followed by "Coll.," the only occasion in the list where the more ordinary abbreviation of "C." is not used. The list is headed "The Names of the Boys in Eton School, December 21st, 1742." Collegers are not given separately, but are distinguished by the letter "C." after their names. The forms given are Sixth, Fifth, Remove, Fourth, Third, Second, First and Bible Seat: of these Fifth Form contains three removes, Fourth Form three, and Third Form five. The names of the forms are given at the end of each in the Upper School, and at the beginning in the Lower. Noblemen are placed at the head of their form in the Upper, but not in the Lower (there are none in the First Form or Bible Seat). Notice "Ld. Charles" at the top of Fourth Form without any surname. The list has in addition certain peculiarities of its own that I will now indicate. The top boy both of the Upper School and Lower School is designated "Captain." Certain boys throughout the School have crosses put against their names, viz. Frank, Harris ma. in Fifth Form, Cardale in Remove, Williams mi. and Plumbe in Third Form, and Hill in Second Form—but for what reason I am unable to say. Lastly Taylor, the Captain of the School, has "C. Prae." after his name, and the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth Collegers have "C. P." after theirs. Similarly Champion, the twelfth name in the list, has "C. Op. P." after his name, where the "C." must have been written in error, as Champion was not a Colleger: similarly, omitting Mr. Cholmondly, the first name in the Fifth Form, the six highest Oppidans have either "Op. Prae.," "Op. P." or "O. P." written after their names. These abbreviations no doubt denote the several "Praepositors" (as they were then styled) among the Collegers and Oppidans, and throw an interesting side-light on that institution. Why Anstey, the second Colleger, was not a Praepostor, cannot be said, but the case of Mr. Cholmondly, the first Oppidan in Fifth Form, admits of an easy explanation, viz. that this was not his proper place in Fifth Form, but that he merely occupied it by courtesy, as being the son of a peer.

For early mention of praepostors we must turn to Richard Cox's account of Eton in 1530 (Archaeologia xxxiv. p. 38), to Malim's account in 1561, and to Thomas James' account in 1766 (Etoniana magazine, No. 7), but they do not come prominently into notice until the Rebellion in 1768. One of the duties of the Praepostors was to keep the other boys in bounds, and they claimed in consequence that they themselves were free to go out of bounds, though they recognised the obligation either to shirk or "cap" the Assistant Masters when they met them. Difficulties arose in 1768, when the Assistants claimed the right to send back Praepostors found out of bounds. Dr. Foster, the Head Master, supported his Assistants. Matters became worse when one of the Assistants complained of a Praepostor for making a noise in Church. It was one of the duties of the Praepostors to sit at the end of each seat and keep silence among the Lower Boys during Divine Service. The boy, who appears to have been merely performing his duty, was flogged; whereupon the Praepostors (it would appear that only the Oppidans were implicated) resigned their office en masse. Further they said that "as they were no longer praepositors, they would not speak (i.e. declaim) in school." The Head Master however said they were to speak not as Praepostors but as Sixth Form boys. The ex-praepostors disputed this, "imagining declaiming was the office of a praepositor," and giving as a reason "that the collegers of the sixth form, altho' as many, and senior to the oppidans, did not declaim till they enjoy'd the privileges of praepositorship, which only the seven seniors enjoy'd. That whoever declaimed missed three regular school exercises in consequence of it." But Dr. Foster said they must either declaim or quit the School. The result was the famous march to Maidenhead. Much of the above is to be found in a pamphlet in the Bodleian (Gough, Add. Bucks 8. 14. 4) which (from a note on it) was written by Jeremiah Milles, eldest son of the Dean of Exeter.

The above passage points to seven being the invariable number of College Praepostors, and to this day only the first seven Collegers in Sixth Form take part in the Speeches delivered in the Michaelmas and Easter Halves. But the School List of 1742 points to seven being also the regular number of Oppidan Praepostors, of whom only one is in Sixth Form. Was this rule altered later to one that all Oppidans in Sixth Form were Praepostors? A collection of old Speech Lists might help to decide this point. Ten did not become the fixed number of Oppidans in Sixth Form till much later.

1745 A list printed by Williams of Eton for Dr. Hawtrey (who edited it) in 1843. In the copy in the British Museum (G. 15126) is a letter dated Feb. 7, 1843, from Dr. Hawtrey—probably to Hon. Thomas Grenville, whose stamp the book bears—in which he says, "A very early List of Eton School lately fell into my hands, which I have had printed by the Eton bookseller. As it is rather curious in itself and a very respectable specimen of our Typography, I venture to request your acceptance of it." The original has unfortunately disappeared, and as the list shews considerable signs of having been edited, it is difficult to be quite certain as to how much was in the original. Assuming however all except the notes to have been in the original list we may observe the following features. The list was entitled "Bill of Eton College & School 1745." It is headed by the Visitor, Dr. Thomas, Bishop of Lincoln, and is the only occasion on which the Visitor's name occurs in any known school list until Lent 1905, when the practice was revived at the writer's suggestion. Following the Visitor's name come those of the Provost, Vice-Provost, Fellows, Upper and Lower Masters, Upper and Lower Assistants and the Conducts. This again is the only list in which the Conducts' names appear until 1856. Then follow the Collegers, of whom there are 70, divided among the Sixth, Fifth, Remove, Fourth, Third and Second Forms. Then come the Oppidans, divided among the Fifth, Remove, Fourth, Third, Second, First Forms and the Bible Seat. It will be noted that there are no Oppidans in the Sixth Form. Boys with titles come at the head of their forms in the Upper School, but not in the Lower (there are none in the Bible Seat).

1747 Belonging to Mr. R. Orlebar of Hinwick House, Wellingborough, Beds. It is written on three sides of a sheet of foolscap, in a fair upright handwriting. The title of the list is as printed on p. 42 (without the date): the date must be between Dec. 17, 1747, and June 23, 1748. There are four columns to the page, and the forms are marked off by lines, but without any names given to them. Three names have been erased, viz. "Gibson," "Richards," and "Holles." Without counting these there are 68 Collegers and 182 Oppidans. The names of Ld. Herbert, Mr. St. John and Mr. Calvert are written at the top of the second page, between columns 1 and 2, and there is no indication of the exact place they should occupy in the list.

1753 There are three, if not four, lists extant for this year. I have printed two, one for January, the other for December, as they practically cover two different years. Both of these belong to Mr. R. Orlebar of Hinwick House.

(1) Written on three sides of a sheet of foolscap, each side containing four columns of names. Across the top of the first page is written "A Bill of Eton School, Jan^{y} 30th, 1753." The list does not give the Staff; the Collegers in each Form and in each Remove are placed first, and next to them any peers, or boys with titles. A peculiarity is the mention by name of three Removes in Fourth Form, six in Third Form and two in Second Form. In the First Remove of Fourth Form, after "Ld. Charles," a later hand has written "Spencer." The handwriting is probably that of a boy.

(2) Written on four sides of a sheet of foolscap, with three columns to the page. The handwriting is good. On the top of the first page is written "1753, December," and if this date is correct, it seems that "Tew" has been omitted at the head of the Collegers, for he did not go to King's till May, 1754. The names of the Staff are given and the Collegers all come together before the Oppidans. At the end of each Form of the Collegers a different hand has added the numbers, and this hand is the same that wrote the next list that will be described. Peers are placed above commoners in the Upper but not in the Lower School. It may be noticed that "Mr. Cornwallis," who was in the Fifth Form in the preceding list, has now become "Lord Brome," his father having been made an earl on June 30, 1753.

Besides these two lists, two others may be noted, viz.:

(3) A list now in the College Library. It was discovered in 1903 by a Reading bookseller among the leaves of a copy of Harwood's Alumni Etonenses, and bought by Mr. R. S. de Havilland, who presented it to the Library. It is written in a large ungainly hand, on three sides of a sheet of foolscap, with four columns to the page, and is headed "A List of Eton School in the year 1753." As far as the names of the boys go the list is identical, except for slight variations in spelling, with the Orlebar list for December 1753, except that in the First Form "Sumner" comes after instead of before "Lord Greville." In giving the names of the Assistants, this list is almost unique in prefixing the Christian names in four instances, viz. "Mr. Jn. Norbury, Batholomey (sic) Young, John Graham and Robert Sumner."

(4) Among Mr. Stapylton's transcripts is one which he describes as a copy by Lord Abingdon of a roll belonging to Lord Romney for the year 1752. But on closer examination this list proves to be later than the Orlebar list for January 30, 1753, so that it should be labelled as belonging to the latter year.

The late Lord Romney was unable to discover this roll when he lent me others in his possession, so that I have never seen the original. The transcript shews that the roll gave first the Staff, then the Collegers, and finally the Oppidans. Peers came at the head of their forms in the Upper School (except in Sixth Form) but not in Lower School. The lowest form of Oppidans is entitled "First form & B. S." (i.e. Bible Seat).

There are three lists for this year:

1754 (1) That which is printed belongs to Mr. Orlebar, and resembles those in his possession for 1753. The date of the list must roughly be between September 1, when "Harris" was admitted to King's, and October 20, when "Richards" was admitted. No list of the Staff is given, and that which is printed on p. 56 is taken from the third list described for this year. It will be seen that peers are placed at the top of their forms in the Upper School, except in Fifth Form, but not in Lower School, except in First Form. The exception in Fifth Form, where "Orlebar" precedes four boys with titles, may be due to the fact that this Orlebar was perhaps the writer of the list. The numerals at the end of each form of Collegers are in the same hand as the de Havilland lists for 1753 and 1754.

(2) A list now in the College Library, with the same history and in the same handwriting as No. 3 for 1753. It does not give the Staff, and as regards names is identical with the Orlebar list for this year, except that the spelling and order differ somewhat. Thus "Orlebar" comes after the peers in Fifth Form. A peculiarity about this list is that it is the only one that distinguishes brothers by the abbreviation (so common at Winchester) of senr. and junr.

(3) A list now in my possession. When Mr. Stapylton saw this list it was in the possession of a former assistant of Mr. E. P. Williams. It must have passed from him to Mr. Ingalton Drake, from whom I purchased it in March 1905. It is written on three sides of a sheet of foolscap with three columns to the page, and headed "A List of Eton College, Aug. 26, 1754," but the date seems in another hand: it is no doubt correct though "Harris" is not in the list, and as he was admitted to King's on September 1, his dismissal would probably have been about ten days earlier. The list gives in succession the Staff, Collegers, and Oppidans. Barnard had just succeeded Sumner as head master, and two more assistants have been added since 1753. Peers head their forms in the Upper School, except in Sixth Form, but not in Lower School, except in First Form. The handwriting seems that of a boy. The list contains 336 names, six fewer than the Orlebar list, but "Mr. Collier" in First Form seems to be the only name that does not occur in any of the lists here printed. According to Barnard's Entrance Book, he entered the School on August 16, 1754.

Of a list for this year which Mr. Stapylton was lent in January 1884 by Mr. R. N. Cust, I have been unable to find any trace.

From 1756 onwards the lists begin to assume a more stereotyped character and with a few exceptions do not require much in the form of notes.

1756–1761

I have used a series of lists belonging to Sir Lawrence E. Jones, Bt., of Cranmer Hall, Fakenham, Norfolk. The College Register gives us the information that Matthew Jones got on the indentures in 1755 and Daniel Jones in 1758, both coming from Fakenham, and no doubt these boys sent the lists home to their parents.

There are eight lists altogether, dated respectively (though the date has been in some cases added subsequently) August 1756, August 1757, Christmas 1757, August 1758, Christmas 1759, (August) 1760, August 1761 and Christmas 1761. The first four seem to be written by the same hand, probably by a boy; the fifth also by a boy, and the last three in a formal, clerkly hand. They are written on four sides of a foolscap sheet: the list for August 1756 has only two columns on each page and consequently overflows on to a second sheet. The lists for 1757 and 1759 have three columns to a page, and those for 1758, 1760 and 1761 have four. Throughout the lists certain names have crosses affixed to them and others are underlined, perhaps denoting friends of the writers; these crosses I have not reproduced.

I will now give a few details about each list, as well as about lists that survive.

This list has the rare heading of "A Bill of Eton College and School" (cf. list for 1745). The distinction between the College and School is still noted in the Trials List of to-day, of which the title is "A List of Eton College," but the eleventh page of which has for heading "Eton School." The forms are as usual, Third Form showing six removes and Second Form two. Peers head their forms in the Upper School, except in Sixth Form, but not in the Lower School, except in First Form.

1757 (1) (August.) This list does not give the Provost, Fellows and Masters, and I have added them from the Jones list for Christmas 1757 as no changes seem to have occurred between Election and Christmas. No removes are indicated in the various forms. Peers are placed at the head of their forms. At the end of the list in a sort of overflow column are six additional names, not included in the scribe's enumeration (which, it may be remarked, is faulty as usual). Possibly these had not yet been "placed" as four of them seem to have arrived on July 22, 1757, according to Barnard's Entrance Book.

"Grave," the second of these, seems to have been originally written "Grey" and altered to "Grave." Possibly the name should be "Grieve," who entered September 14, 1757.

(2) I have also a list dated October 1757, which I bought from Mr. Drake in 1905. It is the same as that mentioned by Mr. Stapylton, as "lent by Mr. Williams' assistant." It is written in an excellent hand on a sheet of foolscap, with four columns to the page; it bears no heading of any kind, and has one peculiarity, viz. that the Collegers are all placed after the Oppidans. The names of the forms are not given, but both forms and removes are indicated by lines. Peers are all grouped together at the head of their forms in the Upper but not in the Lower School. At the end the numbers are given as follows: "Upper School 146, Low. School 169, Coll. 69, In all 384." The date is given at the end.

(3) Christmas. Another list belonging to Sir L. E. Jones, Bt.: the order of this list is Provost and Staff, Collegers (69), and Oppidans (usually spelt Oppidants), showing a total of 401 altered to 403 (but should be 404). Peers are at the head of their forms in the Upper but not in the Lower School.

1758 (1) August. Belonging to Sir L. E. Jones. It does not give the Staff, and does not separate the Collegers from the Oppidans: but certain groups of Collegers have been indicated by brackets, which seem in a later hand. Red ink has been employed for the lines dividing off the forms. Peers head their forms in Fifth, Remove, Fourth, Third and

First Forms (with the exception of "Sr. Jno. Nelthorpe," Lord Kerr and Lord Morpeth, who perhaps are at the top of removes). A feature of this list is that the Fifth, Fourth and Third Forms are each headed by a Duke, a fact denoting the repute which the School was gaining.

(2) There is also a fragment of a list for this year among Lord Brownlow's papers. I have not seen the original, but from a transcript of it kindly sent me by Mr. Lionel Cust, it seems to be a list of the Fourth Form, divided into four removes. It is headed "List of Eton 1758" and contains 113 names, and was probably written by Brownlow Cust, eldest son of Sir John Cust, Bt., afterwards 1st Baron Brownlow. In Third Form "Thorpe" should probably read "Tharp."

1759 Christmas. Belonging to Sir L. E. Jones. Peers are placed at the head of their forms except in the Sixth Form. No removes are indicated, but at the end of Third Form two boys are shewn as "Not placed."

1760 Belonging to Sir L. E. Jones. Dated 1760 only, but endorsed "Augt. 1760." This is the earliest list belonging to a type that now becomes fairly frequent and which I shall call the "F.G." type (see the list for 1761). Each page is neatly divided into four columns by lines ruled in red ink: all lines dividing forms, or beneath the various headings, and all names of peers are also in red ink. The handwriting is very clear and of a clerkly character, with occasional flourishes and twirligigs. My own theory is that these lists were written by the writing-master, who perhaps added to his stipend by selling copies. Old-fashioned "e's" and "g's" and "r's" are occasionally used in this type of list. In this particular list the scribe seems to have forgotten the eleven names from "Mr. Montague" to "Cotes" inclusive near the end of the Second Form, and they have been inserted afterwards. In the same form "Lander" originally was written after "Skelton" but has been erased in red ink, and the same name appears as an insertion in the eighth place in First Form. The name "Pess" near the end of Third Form does not occur elsewhere in the lists or in Barnard's Entrance Book and may perhaps be a mistake. Three removes are indicated in Fourth Form. Peers are placed first in the Fifth, Remove, and in the first and third removes of the Fourth Form; and perhaps the one commoner at the head of the second remove is a mistake.

1761 (1) August. Belonging to Sir L. E. Jones. The month is written in a later hand. The type of this list is the same as that of the last, but the names of the peers are written in black ink. In the top left-hand corner of p. 1, written very small, are the initials "F. G.," no doubt those of the scribe. Three errors, viz. "Rime" for "Prime" and "Toote" for "Foote" in Fourth Form and "Reylor" for "Paylor" in Third Form, indicate that the scribe was copying, and not writing from memory. No removes are indicated, except two in Third Form, and peers are placed first only in Remove and Fourth Form (with the exception of "Sr. Jas. Ibbetson," who perhaps heads a remove).

(2) Christmas. Belonging to Sir L. E. Jones. "Christmas" is in a later hand. This is another list of the "F. G." type. Red ink is used for marking off the columns and divisions, and not for the names of peers. Three removes are shown in Fourth Form, and the peers are placed first in them and in Remove. There are 505 names in the list.

(3) and (4). I have seen two other lists of this date, lent me by Miss Ellison of Kingsbury Lodge, St. Albans. One of these is of the "F. G." type, being identical in almost every way with the Jones list for Christmas 1761, with the exception that it contains at the bottom of the Fourth Form Collegers "Newland," who is absent from the Jones list. As a result the list shows 506 names.

The second Ellison list is of the same date, but a much rougher performance, and in black ink throughout, without any list of Provost, etc., being evidently the work of a boy. There are 503 names, and there is a new variant of the spelling of Oppidans, viz. "Opidents."

1762–5 For these four years I have used lists belonging to Mr. G. E. Lloyd Baker, of Hardwicke Court, Gloucestershire. This collection consists of sixteen lists, 1762–1769, viz. one for 1762 (? July), four for 1763 (viz. March 28, and three others bearing no date beyond that of the year), three for 1764 (viz. for April 16, August 1, and December), two for 1765 (viz. March 30 and August), two for 1766 (the first undated and the second for August), two for 1767 (viz. April 12 and December), one for 1768 (December 9), and one for 1769 (no date). Nearly all of these seem to be written by the same hand, except those for April 12, 1767, and for 1768; the handwriting of the majority is fair, probably that of a boy: that of April 12, 1767, and of 1768 is less good. All the lists are written on similar paper, viz. on four sides of a quarto sheet, with four columns on each page. They are now sewn together in a paper cover. They have undergone a good deal of editing, e.g. ma. and mi. have been freely added: where they are obviously additions I have omitted them. Further, at the end of each list, certain names are usually added in red ink, as "omitted." These are often inserted in red ink in the places they should occupy, and what is curious is that in the list of August 1, 1764, it appears as if in writing the list the scribe had left blank spaces for inserting these names; if this is so, the list cannot well be the original draft. The complete list of Provost, Fellows, Masters, etc., is only given in the lists for 1763 (No. 2), 1765 (August) at the end, 1766 (No. 1) and 1769. In 1762 the names of the Provost, Upper and Lower Masters alone are given. The peers, etc., are never given in red ink. Collegers are given by themselves at the beginning in the lists for 1762, 1763 (four lists), and 1769; in the others they are mixed with the Oppidans.

One or two points may be noted about some of the lists, viz.: the second list for 1763 gives a complete list of the forms and removes, viz.: Sixth, Fifth (Upper, Second, Third, Fourth and Lag Removes), Remove, Fourth (Upper, Second, Third and Fourth Removes), Third (Upper Greek, Lower Greek, Sense, Nonsense, Lag Remove and Unplaced), Second (Upper and Lag Removes) and First. The fourth list for 1763, the first for 1764, and the list for 1768 give the last form as "I. and Bible-seat."

The following are the chief peculiarities of the lists I have printed for the years 1762–5:

1762 (? July.) This list gives at the end in red ink "Omitted —Mr. Irby ma., Baker."

1763 This list bears no date, but must be later than July 8, 1763, when "Manners," the last boy, was admitted. It gives at the end in red ink as "Omitted—Budworth, Dutton min., Mr. Fox, Jones, Thomas, Morant, probably Mr. Townshend, and Jesse."

1764 Aug. 1. It gives at the end "Omitted—Eden, Hanbury, Johnson, Cole, and Vincent." In the text it inserts in red ink "Vincent" (aft. "Farrer" No. 93), "Hanbury" (aft. "Vanderpool" No. 272), "Eden" (aft. "Stanley" No. 296), "Curtis mi." (aft. "Thomas" No. 315).

1765 Aug. It gives at the end "Omitted—Piggot."

1762–5 Other lists existing for these years are:

1762 (1) A list, belonging to the Duke of Rutland among the Belvoir Castle Papers, entitled "Letters and Papers, Supplementary, 1471–1799." It is a list of the "F. G." type, but the right hand quarter of the first page is missing. Red ink is used only for the dividing lines, not for the peers. The list is slightly later in date than the Baker list that is printed and no doubt is for Election, as Capstack, who came on July 26, is in the list. It contains 520 names. A playful note at the end says "Pray whip the bearer, Wm." The spelling of the names is occasionally peculiar, e.g. "Cæmer" for "Seymour." Peers are placed at the top in Remove, and probably in the removes of Fourth Form.

(2) A list, written on eight pages of foolscap octavo, and bound up at the beginning of a volume of printed School-lists 1791–1810, in the possession of Messrs. Spottiswoode & Co. The volume seems once to have belonged to G. Davis, who was Mr. Williams' assistant. The writing is small and neat, but whether the list is an original or merely a transcript is uncertain. The list is headed "A Bill of Eton School, Election 1762." The list of the Staff is not given, nor are the Collegers in any way distinguished from the Oppidans. There are 511 names. Peers seem placed first only in the Remove.

(3) A list belonging to Sir J. W. Buchanan Riddell, Bt., of Hepple, Whitefield, Rothbury. This was originally a roll, but has been cut into strips and pasted into a book. The strips put together would measure about $13\frac{1}{2}$ ft. × $2\frac{1}{10}$ in. The list as it survives begins with "Harrison," but a later hand has written "Sumner" above his name, and probably he was originally in the list, as the top seems wanting. The boys number 489. The handwriting and spelling are both very inferior: thus "Lord Ophaley" is written "Lord Ophelia," and Lord Roos" appears as "Lord Ruse." Peers come first only in Remove. Besides the names of the forms, five boys are described as "Unplaced" at the end of Third Form. At the end of the strips composing the list a piece of paper is pasted which formed without doubt the wrapper of the roll. On it is written "The following note is in my Father's hand—'G. J. Cholmondely, b. 1752, d. 1830, and an Etonian,' F. S. B. Riddell. 'A Bill of Eton School made probably about the year 1762, shewing there to be in the Upper School, Collegers 45, Oppidans 219=264, Lower School, Collegers 11, Oppidans 207=218 [Total] 482 Total Collegers only 56 i.e. 14 below Complement. Given to me by Mr. Parry of Warfield.'" But the numbers should read: Upper School, Collegers 45, Oppidans 222=267; Lower School, Collegers 10, Oppidans 212=222, Total 489.

1764 (1) A list in the Eton College Library, presented by Mr. R. M. Harvey, in July, 1889. It is written on four sides of a quarto sheet, in a moderate handwriting, and badly spelt. The list gives in order the Staff, Collegers, and Oppidans. There is nothing remarkable about the list except that after writing page 1 the scribe turned his paper upside down and so continued, and in setting out the forms, he has made one heading of Remove and Fourth Form. The list contains 57 Collegers and 445 Oppidans and is perhaps slightly later than Baker's list for August 1, 1764, as it omits "Bouverie" in the Oppidan Sixth Form. There are various other differences among the names, the only important one being the insertion of "Arden" in the First Form. "Arden" came to Eton on March 16, 1764, according to Barnard's Entrance Book, but for some reason does not appear in any of the Baker lists.

(2) A transcript now in possession of Mr. A. Clark-Kennedy, of 17 Langham Street, W. On it is written this note, "Mem. The List from which this was taken was lent to me by Rev^{d}. Th^{os}. Hatch of Walton. It was badly written and in many instances the Names were wrongly spelt." This note was probably written by the Rev. R. B. Byam, once Rector of Petersham, who seems originally to have owned the transcript, and from whom Mr. Stapylton appears to have borrowed it. The date of the list must be about Election 1764; there are 491 names given, and the order is Staff, Collegers, Oppidans. I have no idea where the original is.

(3) A transcript in the possession of Miss B. Chetwynd Stapylton, bound up at the beginning of an interleaved and annotated copy of "Montem" lists. This transcript seems to have been made by Mr. Stapylton from a list lent him by Mr. Jesse.

1765 A list in possession of Mr. S. H. le Fleming, of Rydal Hall, Ambleside. The existence of this list is noted in the twelfth Report, App. Pt. VII. of the Historical MSS.

Commission, p. 357, 5684 e "1765. Bill of Eton School." The list bears no actual date but was probably made out at Election 1765. It is written on four sides of a sheet of foolscap in a fairly good hand, no doubt that of a boy. It gives the Staff, but does not separate the Collegers from the Oppidans. There are 512 names.

1766 A list belonging to the Duke of Rutland and to be found among the "Letters and Papers supplementary 1471–1799 —Belvoir Castle," f. 190. This is one of the "F. G." lists, being written on four sides of a sheet of foolscap, with four columns to the page, in an excellent clerkly handwriting, with the usual flourishes. Red ink is used for the lines between the columns, for the dividing lines between the divisions, and for the names of peers, etc. It is headed "A List of Eton School" with "Election 1766" written in the top right-hand corner. The order is Provost, Fellows, etc., Collegers and Oppidans. The forms are as usual, but three removes are shewn in the Fifth Form, three in the Fourth, six in the Third (the last alone having a heading, viz. "Unplaced"). Peers are not put above others, except in the three removes of Fourth Form. The total number of boys is 498. At the end of the list is a drawing in red ink representing a quill pen, and a note in another hand below it saying, "N.B. This was a fellow, named Pen, if it is intended for a joke."

N.B. In Second Form "Croftes" should apparently be "Croft" and "Blagrove" "Blagrave."

Other lists for the year 1766 are:

(1) Sir R. Payne-Gallwey, of Thirkleby Park, Thirsk, has another list for this year, made out by Sir Thomas Frankland: he says that it gives the names of peers, etc. in red ink. I have not seen the list.

(2) A list on two sides of a single large sheet, sent me loose among the Baker lists. It is headed "A Bill of Eton School for July 1766" and is made out in five columns, red ink being used for peers, names of forms, dividing lines, etc. An explanatory note says: "N.B. Those boys who have C. after their names are Collegers or on the foundation. Those boys whose names are wrote in red ink are noblemen. Those whose names are followed by ma. or maj. are the eldest brothers, by mi. or minor or min. the second, by mini. or minimus the third." There are 486 names. The handwriting is that of a boy, but does not seem the same as that of the Baker lists.

(3) A roll belonging to V. F. Tufnell, Esq., Norwood House, Leamington. This roll is 15 ft. 7 in. long by 3½ in. wide, and is written in fairly good handwriting on stoutish paper. It bears no date but must have been made out about Election 1766. The top portion of the roll is gone, and the first name now to be seen on it is a fragment of Mr. Southernwood's, one of the Fellows. After the Fellows come the Collegers, and lastly the "Oppidents." The spelling of the names is very poor. On the reverse side of the roll, at the top, has been written in a later hand, "Provost Dr. Barnard." The names number 469. Some notes in a later hand have been added to many of the names. The usual forms are given in Upper School; three removes are shewn in Fourth Form. In Lower School we have Upper Greek, Lower Greek, Sense, Nonsense, Second and First. Only in Fourth Form do peers come at the head of their removes.

(4) A roll belonging to the Right Honble. L. V. Harcourt, 14 Berkeley Square, W. This is one of the three rolls that were originally in the possession of either the Bramston or Beach families. The late Lady Portal (daughter of Mr. William Hicks-Beach), into whose possession they passed, gave one to Mrs. Chute, another to Sir Michael Hicks-Beach (now Lord St. Aldwyn), and retained the third herself. Sir Michael, possessing no other Eton curiosities, gave his to Mr. Harcourt, who, as is well known, has long collected everything relating to Eton. This roll is unfortunately only a fragment, ending at name No. 281 (Smith). The remainder has evidently been torn off and lost. It is written in a large boyish hand, and the spelling is bad. It is headed "A Bill of Eton Colledge 1766," and gives the Provost, Fellows, Collegers and Oppidans. It was probably made out at Election. Asterisks have been placed against the names of Bramston, No. 241, and Lord Midleton, 250. The first asterisk probably denotes the writer of the list. The reason of the second is not apparent.

(5) Belonging to Mr. A. Wyatt Edgell, of Cowley Place, Exeter. It is written on four sides of a sheet of quarto paper. The handwriting is good, and Mr. Wyatt Edgell says that it looks to him like the handwriting of his great-grandfather, Richard Wyatt, of Milton Park, Egham.

The list has no heading, but at the top of the first column occurs the date 1766. There is no list of Provost, Fellows, etc., the Collegers are not separated from the Oppidans, nor are peers put at the heads of their forms. Fourth Form contains an Upper, Second and Third Remove; Third Form has Upper Greek,

Lower Greek, Sense, Nonsense, Lag Remove and Unplaced; Second Form, Upper Remove and Second Remove. The boys number 474, viz. Upper School 231, and Lower School 243. The list is endorsed "Eton Boys."

(6) A roll belonging to Eton College Library, 9½ ft. long by $2\frac{7}{16}$ in. wide. It belonged formerly to Sir W. S. Trelawny, Bt., of Trelawne, Duloe, who gave it in 1873 to the late Mr. Chetwynd-Stapylton, whose son, Mr. H. G. Chetwynd-Stapylton, gave it to the College on November 7, 1904. The roll is written in a small, neat handwriting, on stout white paper, which bears a watermark of 1810. If as seems almost certain these figures give the date of the make of paper, this roll must be a transcript of an older one. The heading is "Eton List 1766," beneath which comes "Upper School—Doctor Foster, Head," followed by the names of four assistants, and similarly "Lower School—Doctor Dampier, Head," followed by five assistants. Thus the Provost and Fellows are not given. The Collegers are not given apart from the Oppidans, nor are peers at the head of their forms. Fourth Form shows an Upper, Second and Third Remove; Third Form has Upper Greek, Lower Greek, Sense, Nonsense, Lag Remove, and Unplaced; Second Form has Upper and Second Remove. The list contains 484 names.

1767–1770 For these years I have used a set of lists written by Sir Thomas Frankland. These lists are written in a copy-book bearing on the inside of the cover the name of "Thomas Frankland," apparently in the same handwriting as the lists themselves. They cover the years 1766–1770. The list for 1766 is dated "June," the others "August." They are written in a very neat hand, the columns—three to a page—being ruled off with red ink, which is also used for separating the forms and for the names of peers, etc. The different lists succeed each other without any interval, and look almost as if they had been all written at the same time: if so, they must of course be copies from older originals.

The writer of these lists was Sir Thomas Frankland of Thirkleby Park, afterwards President of the Royal Society, etc., a careful chronicler of all that went on around him during all his life. One of the only two extant MSS. of Nugae Etonenses (c. 1765) is in his handwriting. His descendant, Sir Ralph Payne-Gallwey, tells me that he has in his possession another list for 1766 written by Frankland, framed and hung in his billiard room. The following account of Sir Thomas Frankland is quoted from the Herald of 1786: "Sir Thos. Frankland was sent by his father Adm. Sir Thomas to Domine Evans because the house looked quiet from having some greens nailed all over it. He was the head boy of that house. As a scholar he was diligent more than distinguished, and he had a talent for every mechanic art that distinguished him from every boy of his time."

These lists were bought at a London sale by Mr. Ingalton Drake about 1886, and passed into my hands in 1904.

Other lists for the years 1767—1770 are the following:

1767 A transcript in possession of Mr. A. Clark-Kennedy, of 17 Langham Street, W., having at the end this note: "Copied from a list lent by Mr. Angelo, author of Reminiscences, Aug. 16, '34." This therefore must be the transcript seen by Mr. Stapylton and described by him as the "Copy of a list in possession of the late Rev. R. B. Byam, taken from a list lent by Mr. Angelo, author of Reminiscences, etc., 16th August 1834." The list is headed "Eton School 1767," and gives the Provost, Fellows, etc., Collegers and Oppidans. The transcript is on a sheet of foolscap with three columns to the page; a good many pencil notes have been added by some commentator. Peers are not at the heads of their forms. Note that the Lewis's are written thus: J. Lewis, H. Lewis, David Lewis and W. Lewis. An interesting feature is that about half way down the Fifth Form comes the heading "Lower Division." The list contains 417 names.

1768 In my possession, lately belonging to Mr. Drake. Mr. Stapylton mentions it as "belonging to Mr. Williams' assistant." It is written on four sides of a sheet of quarto in an excellent but rather formal handwriting. The writer had not quite sufficient space for all the names, and the last ten names are written across the last page. The list is headed "A List of Eton School, July 20, 1768," and gives the Staff, Collegers and Oppidents (sic). Peers, etc. are not put at the heads of their forms, but are written in red ink. The names number 465.

1768 A list belonging to the Earl of Romney; it is one of the "F. G." type, being written on a sheet of foolscap with four columns to the page; the dividing lines which separate the columns and the forms, as well as all boys with titles being in red ink. The writing contains the usual flourishes and twirligigs. The list is practically the same as the Portal roll, and contains 462 names, wrongly counted on the list as 463. The removes are shewn in Fifth Form. The order is Staff, Collegers, Oppidans.

1768 A roll belonging to Sir W. W. Portal, Bart., Malshanger, Basingstoke. This roll, which is 12 ft. 2 in. long by $2\frac{5}{16}$ in. wide, is preserved in a parchment bag, drawn together with strings at the top. For its history see the notes on the Harcourt roll of 1766. Its heading runs "A Bill of the | School," and over this has been written by a later hand "1767," but the date should probably be 1768. It is in the same handwriting as the Chute roll for 1771. The roll gives the Provost, Fellows, etc., and the "Colledgers" (sic) precede the "Oppedants" (sic). Some care has been taken to differentiate the several boys of the name "Lewis." Thus we find "John Lewis," "Windham Lewis" and "H. Lewis." There are 462 names.

1769 A roll in the School Library. This roll was purchased from Mr. W. G. Griffith of Croughton, Brackley, and presented to the School Library in January 1903 by Mr. A. B. Ramsay and others. It has been mounted on a long strip of parchment, with wooden rollers at the top and bottom, so as to make it easy for purposes of reference. The roll bears no date in itself, and as Pote, the first Colleger, was admitted to King's on January 24, 1769, it is not unlikely that the date is 1768, subsequent to July 7, when Poynter was admitted to King's. The list is headed "A Bill of Eton School," and gives the Staff, Collegers and Oppidans. Red ink is used for the names of peers and for the dividing lines.

1766 These four lists were presented to the Eton College
1767 Library by the Rev. John Ayre, curate of St. John's, 1768 Hampstead, on July 20, 1855. They are all written in the 1769 same handwriting, of a poor character with spelling to match—and are no doubt the work of a boy. They are each written on the first three sides of a sheet of foolscap, with four columns to the page, in black ink throughout. In each case the Provost and Fellows, etc., are given, and the Collegers come before the Oppidans; peers are not at the head of their forms. In the first three lists the Lower Master is described as "Head Master of the Lower School," but in the fourth as "Lower Master." The dates of the lists are June 1766 with 481 names, July 1767 with 478 names, July 1768 with 461 names, and November 1769 with 400 names. There is an interesting note at the end of the 1769 list, where no names are given under First Form, viz. "N.B. The Bill of the 1st Form was lost: from the July Bill are these few following," and then follow twelve names under the heading "1st Form."

1771 A roll, 7 ft. 7¼ in. long by 2⅛ in. wide, belonging to Mrs. Chute, The Vyne, Hampshire [see list for 1766 (4)]. The handwriting is fair and is the same as that of the Portal roll. Black ink is used throughout. It is headed "1771" and gives in order Provost, etc., Collegers and Oppidans. Two removes are shown in Fourth Form, five in Third, and two in Second, and then ten boys under the heading "Unplaced" in First Form. Peers are not at the head of their forms, and the names number 347 (Collegers 62).

1772 A roll, 2$\frac{1}{10}$ in. wide, belonging to the Earl of Romney: it is written in a poor hand, and the spelling is inferior. The heading is "A Bill of Eton School," and the list bears no date. Mr. Stapylton thought it belonged to the year 1771, but it must be between April 14, 1772, when Mr. Chamberlayne became a Fellow, and August 15, 1772, when Randolph was admitted to King's. Red ink is used for the lines dividing the forms, for the names of boys with titles, for the heading "Collegers," for the first and last letters of "New Boys," which heading appears over the last two boys in the School, and for the numerals at the end, viz. 336. The list gives the Staff, Collegers and Oppidans. The names are wrongly counted and should number 328.

In the last remove of the Upper School "Mr. Brown" seems an error for "Brown."

1773 (1) In the Eton College Library. The list is written on two sides of a half sheet of foolscap in a poor hand. It has no heading, but some one has added a date which appears to be "1772" converted into "1773." The date is probably about Election 1773, for Dr. Foster, who is said to have resigned the headmastership in July of that year, does not appear in the list, nor does Key, who was admitted to King's on Aug. 14. There are 283 names including fifty-eight Collegers, and the list gives in order the Staff, Collegers and Oppidans.

N.B. In Fifth Form (Coll.) "Sheels" should be "Skeels."

(2) A roll belonging to the Rev. J. H. Snowden, S. Vedast, 25 Carlton Road, Putney Hill, S.W. This is a very interesting roll, much time and labour having evidently been spent upon it. The roll is $2\frac{3}{8}$ in. wide, and is preserved in a small particoloured silk bag, green below and black above. This bag was evidently made to fit it, and is tied together at the top by means of black strings. The bag is enclosed in another bag much larger and made of green silk. Mr. Snowden says that the list, enclosed in these bags, came into his possession some fifty years ago, on his father's death. At the top of the roll on the reverse side is written "I | Thos. Hughes July 14th 1773 | Aetas 14," but this does not seem in the same writing as any part of the roll itself. Nor does it seem possible that this date is correct, as thirteen boys who were placed on the indentures of 1773 appear as being already in College, and the Election did not take place until July 26. The date would seem to be between July 26, 1773, and February 15, 1774, when Knapp, who is the first Colleger, was admitted to King's. The roll is headed "A List of Eton School" without any date. The Provost, Fellows, etc., are given, after which comes the heading BOYS. Collegers are not separated from Oppidans, nor are peers at the head of their forms. Six removes are shewn in Fifth Form; Fourth Form contains Upper, Middle and Lower Removes; Third Form (the title of which is omitted) has Upper Greek, Lower Greek, The Sense, The Nonsense, and Lower Remove; Second Form Upper and Lower Removes. There are 291 names. The peculiarity about the roll is the liberal use of red ink, and the large amount of ornamentation between the various forms. Thus red ink is used for the headings to all forms, for abbreviations such as Coll. (which is so written throughout, except after the head boy's name when Colleger is written in full), for names of all boys with titles, for numerals at the side, and for many dividing lines. The ornamentation is of a childish nature, and consists mainly of flourishes (partly in red and partly in black ink). In one instance hearts and diamonds have been drawn in red ink, and spades and clubs in black. Hidden among the ornamentation is in most cases the name of the youthful artist. Thus down find "I. Goodall fecit" constantly, but from Lower Greek onwards Hughes is the artist. The handwriting changes similarly, so that there seems no doubt that Joseph Goodall—the future head master—No. 101, wrote the greater portion of the list, and that Hughes, No. 224, wrote the remainder. It would seem that Hughes was dissatisfied with his first attempt at ornamentation, viz. at Lower Greek, for a new bit of work has evidently been executed over a former one. At the bottom of the list on the reverse side is written "276 Names," which is certainly incorrect.

When advertising for Eton lists, two transcripts of this list were sent me—one by the Rev. N. T. Garry of the Rectory, Taplow; it had been made by Mr. Snowden, who had written in several places "sic J. H. S." Mr. Garry informed me that it contained the name of his mother's father, "Vesey," in Lower Greek.

The second came from Mr. C. W. Campbell of Ivy House, Hampton Court, and was a transcript of the last. Mr. Campbell said it had been in his possession since the death of his cousin Arthur Vesey.

1774 In the Eton College Library. It is written on three sides of a sheet of foolscap in a poor hand. The heading is "A Bill of Eton School, Election 1773," but the date is in a later hand and is certainly wrong, for it must be at least as late as February 1774, Knapp, who does not appear in the list, having been admitted to King's on February 15 of that year. It is somewhat earlier in all probability than Election-time as there are five more Collegers who were on the indentures of 1773 who had still to get into College. The list does not give the Staff, but I have added it from the Snowden list, which may belong to this year. The Collegers and Oppidans are mixed together and the names number 267, including seventy Collegers.

1775 A roll belonging to Miss M. A. J. Mason of Aldenham Cottage, Yateley. It is in an incomplete state, a portion of the top having been lost, as well as a piece at the beginning of Fifth Form and a third portion having become detached at the bottom. Its present length is 4 ft. $2\frac{3}{4}$ in. + $4\frac{5}{8}$ in. (the detached piece) by $1\frac{3}{4}$ in. On a wrapper is written "Bill Eton College, 1760," which date is plainly wrong, and the real date is to be found at the end of the list, viz. Christmas 1775. Owing to the top portion of the roll being missing the names of the first five boys have been lost. This is rendered certain by the fact that "Bernard," the fifth name as the list stands at present, is numbered "10." The missing Collegers are easily supplied from the King's indentures for 1775. Whether the roll ever contained the names of the Staff cannot be said. There is an incomplete list, finishing in the middle of Third Form, for Christmas 1775 in the bound volume of MS. lists in the College Library. According to that list "Hatch" and "Oliver" had already left College, while "Kirke," "Mackarel" and "Trusler" had got in. If this were so the Mason list would contain exactly seventy Collegers. As a matter of fact it does not mark "Hatch" or "Oliver" with a "C." so that it is just conceivable that they had left College and become Oppidans for a Half. The roll contains 246 names, allowing for the five lost, and represents the lowest ebb to which the School sank after its glorious career under Barnard.

A peculiarity of this list is the way the six Frasers are distinguished from one another, viz. Fraser max. ma., Fraser max. mi., Fraser max., Fraser ma., Fraser mi. and Fraser min.

1776–1790 The remaining lists are taken from a MS. collection in the College Library. There are a great many of these, the majority being bound together in two volumes, entitled "Eton School Lists. MS. 1775–1799" and "1799–1834." The origin of these lists is not apparent; but most of them are probably the official lists which it became the custom at some period for the Head and Lower Masters to deliver each Half to the Provost. Practically all the Bills are written on four sides of a quarto sheet of paper, with three columns to the page. The handwriting varies much, in some cases being that of a boy, in other cases being a formal hand, while many of the separate lists of the Lower School are, I believe, written by the Lower Master (Dr. Langford) himself. The dates of the lists have frequently been added by a later hand. In the case of the list printed for Election 1784, the original date seems to have been erased, and "Decr 1783" to have been written over it. But the proper date seems to be about Election 1784. In many cases there are duplicate lists, as well as lists for the Easter and Michaelmas Halves. This series of lists does not present any very striking features, the form having apparently become more or less stereotyped. The list of Provost, Fellows, and Masters is never given; but I have occasionally been able to add it from other extant lists. The Collegers are rarely given separately from the Oppidans, but an important change occurs in the lists for 1788, 1789, and 1790, when all the Collegers are put at the head of the list under the title of King's Scholars. The same thing happens in the MS. lists for 1791. At Easter 1793 (there is no MS. list between December 1791 and Easter 1793) Collegers are once more mingled with the Oppidans, but are distinguished by the initials K.S. instead of C. The first time, however, that the expression "King's Scholar" occurs is in a list dated December 8, 1786, in which crosses are put to various names, and are said by a note in a later hand to denote "King's Scholars."

The following peculiarities in the whole series of lists may be noted. In the corner of one of the lists dated August 1, 1781, is written "Dr. B.," the initials evidently denoting that it was a list intended for Dr. Barnard, the Provost, and it must have been his last list, for he died December 2, 1781.

There is a note added to the list for December 6, 1791—which is just beyond the series printed in this volume—"My last bill—on y^{e} 16th I became Provost," evidently by Dr. Davies.

Similarly a note, probably in Dr. Davies' hand, to the list for Christmas 1801, says it was taken "when Dr. Heath vacated the Mastership being elected Fellow, and Dr. Goodall was elected Master."

At the end of the list for Easter 1802 is written "Easter 1802 Dr. Goodall."

Most of the lists in Dr. Goodall's headmastership and all in Dr. Keate's are evidently written by the Head Master himself. At the end of the last bill in the second volume of the MS. book, viz. for Election 1834, is written "Dr. Keate's last Bill." Four sides of a quarto sheet sufficed, with a certain amount of management, to contain the School till the end of Dr. Keate's rule, except for the halves from Easter 1830 to Easter 1833 inclusive, when the School does not conclude at the fourth page, but must have overflowed on to another sheet. But whoever had these lists bound up, did not notice this (or else the second sheets were missing), so that the MS. lists for these particular Halves are incomplete. But as the lists were printed annually at Election from 1791, this is not of course a matter of any importance.

I will add a few further remarks about each of the lists printed in this book.

1776 Election. The date has been added by a later hand. The list is in a boy's handwriting, and contains 266 names, including sixty-three Collegers.

1777 July 31. The date is in a later hand, and so are the "C.'s" denoting the Collegers. The list itself is written in a very good, formal hand. From the lists for 1776 and 1778 it seems that "Sumpter C." has been omitted from either the Sixth or Fifth Form; also "Eldridge C." and "Saunders" from Remove. (Eldridge was on the Indentures of 1776.) "Hughes" in Fourth Form should have "C." after his name. The list contains 271 names, of which sixty-one (including "Hughes") are Collegers.

1778 July 27. The date is again added in a later hand. I have added the Staff from a list in my possession (see p. 361). The list, which is poorly written, contains 276 names, including sixty-seven Collegers (including Bartlam, which is not marked with a "C.").

1779 July 29. The Staff is again taken from a list in my possession (see p. 361). The list, which is in a moderate hand, contains 305 names (wrongly added up as 306), of which sixty-eight are marked as Collegers. But it seems that "Oliver" and "Grover" in Fourth Form, "Briggs" in Third, and "Wright" in Second should also be marked as Collegers, which would bring the number to seventy-two. "Oliver" seems to have left this year, and may have become an Oppidan, but this would still leave one too many, and I do not know how to explain the fact.

N.B. "Ibbot" in Fourth Form must be a mistake for "Hibbert."

1780 July. The date is in a later hand. The Staff is added from the printed Tighe list (see infra pp. 361–2). There are 300 names, of which sixty-four are marked as Collegers, but "Smith" in Fourth Form ought not to be marked as a Colleger, while "Dyson" in Fifth, "Littlehales" in Third, and "Hill" in First Form should also be marked C., bringing up the number of Collegers to sixty-six. Of the boys on the indentures for 1779 only eleven out of the twenty-one who eventually got in appear as Collegers, which is odd as College does not seem to have been full at the moment.

Note that "Hampson" in Fifth Form and "Wickes" in Fourth Form seem to have left College and become Oppidans. A good many boys in the Upper part of the School have dashes placed after their names, and there is a note at the end of the list, written by the same hand that added the date "The boys mark'd C. are on the Foundation, those mark'd — were confirmed Jul. 8. 1780."

1781 Aug. 1. The date is in a later hand. The Staff is from a list in my possession (see infra p. 361). There are 300 names of which sixty-nine are marked as Collegers, but "Harwood C." and "Hibbert C.," who were in Fourth Form in the last list and who reappear in Fifth Form in the next list, seem to be temporarily absent. Notice that the list contains two "Lord Downes," one in Fifth Form, who appears in the previous list as "Mr. Dawnay," and the second in Sense, who should probably be written "Ld. Doune."

1782 July 26. The date is in a later hand, and some one has drawn a pencil through "July 26th" and written "Election" over it, but as the date of Election that year was July 29, the difference is not great. Similarly pencil marks have been drawn through the names of the various forms, and "Smith" has been added in pencil at the end of the list. The Staff has been added from a list of 1781 in my possession (see infra p. 361) which has evidently been corrected for use in 1782. Dr. Roberts became Provost on December 12, 1781, and Mr. Tew Fellow on December 24, 1781. Including "Smith," there are 326 names, of which sixty-eight are marked Collegers; but the C. added to "Reid," "Harvey," and "Champneys," all in Fourth Form, is only in pencil. They were the last three on the indentures for 1781, and if they had got in, "Hill" in Nonsense, and "Parry," "Prior," and one "Broadley," in Second Form, Upper Remove, must also have got in. This, however, would give seventy-one Collegers, one too many.

1783 Easter. There are 346 names, including seventy marked as Collegers.

1784 The date of this list, which is in a later hand, was originally "Election 1784," but this has been erased and "Election 1783" written over it; the list, however, is certainly for 1784, though it may be Easter rather than Election. The list contains 339 names, of which seventy are marked as Collegers, and as twelve of these on the indentures for 1783 were already in, the list must at any rate be later than Election 1783.

1785 December 10. There are 348 names, of which sixty-four are marked as Collegers. But "Bainbridge" in Fifth Form and "Wilson" in Lower Greek should be marked with a C., while "Cook" in Lower Greek is apparently thus marked by mistake, as there does not seem to have been a Colleger of that name at this time.

1786 This is compiled from two lists, (1) in the volume of MS. lists marked "Upper School only" with "Eton, July 29, 1786," written above in another hand; (2) from a packet of loose lists in the College Library marked "A Bill of y^e^ Lower School, Election 1786," which seems to be in the handwriting of the Lower Master (Langford). There are altogether 357 names, but only thirty-one are marked as Collegers, and of these "Kingston" in Third Form seems marked by mistake. There should be probably 58 Collegers. In the Upper School list the names of the Forms are added in pencil, and several names, i.e. "Ellis C." in Sixth Form, "Thackeray" in Fifth Form, both "Smith C." in Remove, "Wright C., Hucks C., Broadley C., and Wagner C." in Fourth Form, are added in another hand.

N.B. In Fifth Form, for "Elswick" read "Estwick."

1787 July 28. There are 341 names. The Collegers are placed first, and number fifty-four.

1788 July 28. The Staff are given from a list in my possession (see infra p. 362). There are 368 names. The Collegers are given first, under the heading of King's Scholars, and number fifty-four. "F. Langford," who was second on the indentures of 1787, seems missing from among them. "Lord Templetown" has been erased with a stroke of the pen in Fifth Form, while "Stanley" has been inserted in another hand in Unplaced, but both are counted in according to the enumeration given in the MS.

1789 July 27, 1789. There are 377 names, including fifty-nine King's Scholars, who came before the Oppidans.

1790 May 18. There are 384 names, including sixty-four King's Scholars, who come first. Half-way down "Upper Greek," "Lower Greek" has been faintly written in pencil opposite Methuen's name, and similarly "Lower Remove" opposite Pemberton's name in Sense. In the first remove of Fourth Form the name of "Parkiss" has been erased between "Mortlock" and "Mr. Herbert."

In addition to the above-mentioned lists for the period 1776–1790 the following are also known of, viz.:

1778, 1779, 1781 Three lists in my possession, which I bought from Mr. Drake. They are mentioned by Mr. Stapylton as being "in the possession of Mr. Williams' assistant." They are all three in the shape of small 12mo books, two columns to the page, in marbled covers. They do not all appear to be by the same hand however.

The list of 1778 is styled "A List of Eton College, at Easter 1778," and gives the Provost, Fellows, etc. Collegers are not given apart from the Oppidans. Red ink has been used for the names of the Provost, Vice-Provost, Fellows and Upper and Lower Master, and for peers, etc. Fourth Form contains Upper, Middle and Lag Removes; Third Form Upper Greek, Lower Greek, Sense, Nonsense, Lag Remove and Unplac'd; Second Form Upper and Lag Remove.

The list of 1779 is styled "A List of Eton College, Feb. 79." The arrangement is similar to that of the last list, but no red ink is used. The names are numbered in fives, and shew 292. A good many names in the Upper School have crosses set against them.

The list for 1781 is styled "Eton College 1781" and is more or less similar to the last. Black ink is used throughout. Several names have had lines drawn through them, notably the Provost, Dr. Barnard: it looks as if the list had been edited for use in the following year.

1780 Among Mr. Stapylton's collection of transcripts is a list printed on a broadside, and dated "Election 1780."

There is a pencil note in the corner, in Mr. Stapylton's handwriting, saying that the list was sent him in July 1877 by Colonel Tighe of Rossana. The list gives the Staff across the top of the sheet, and then the boys, numbering 301, in eight columns, the Upper School being on the left-hand half of the sheet, the Lower School on the right. Mr. Stapylton seems to have made a transcript of the same list and in the corner of his MS. transcript is this note: "Copied from a List printed by Col. Tighe of Rossana, lent me by C. C. James of Eton: Jan. 1884."

1781 (1) A list printed in the Gentleman's Magazine, January 1832. The list is prefaced as follows: "December 30 [1831 ?]. Mr. Urban. I have transcribed, from the original, a List of the boys at Eton in the years 1779–1780, upwards of half a century ago," and is signed "Zo." The list seems really to be for Election 1781 and contains 296 names. It gives the Staff and is peculiar in giving "The Provost of King's" after the Provost of Eton. After the Assistants come the "Private Tutors to Noblemen and others, not assisting in the school." The Collegers are not distinguished in any way from the Oppidans. Most of the names have short biographica notes appended, and those boys still thought to be living have asterisks placed against them.

(2) A list belonging to Lord Darnley at Cobham Hall: the original (which I have not seen) is said to be enclosed in a letter from Lord Clifton to his father, John Bligh, third Earl of Darnley, from Eton, dated June 17, 1781. The writer says: "I send you a list of the school, which I believe is accurate." The Collegers are not put first, but are differentiated by a cross placed after their names. There are 302 names altogether.

1782 Mr. Stapylton was lent a list (or a transcript of a list) in the possession of Rev. J. W. Hawtrey, in the handwriting of one of Dr. Hawtrey's sisters. I have been unable to see the original, but Mr. Stapylton's transcript shews that it gave the Staff and the names of 322 boys: the Collegers are mixed with the Oppidans and distinguished by the initials "K.S.," but I feel doubtful if "K.S." would be found in the original.

1788 A list in my possession, bought from Mr. Drake in 1905. This is a very rough list, but of great interest. It is written in a very poor hand on several sheets of foolscap quarto. It is headed "A List of Eton Colledge, Anno Domino (sic) 1788," and begins with the Provost, Vice-Provost, and Fellows. Then came "Busers (i.e. Bursars) Dr. Norbury and Mr. Tew," whose names have already appeared among the Fellows. Then follow the "Upper School Masters" and "Lower School Masters," with Dr. Davies "head" of the former and Dr. Langford "head" of the latter. Then follows a list of thirteen Private Tutors with the names of their pupils. Then thirteen Dames, then the Extra Masters, and finally the boys with the names of their Dames and Tutors, much as in the present School List. The list stops after "Nonsense." The heading of the next remove has been written, viz. "Lag Remove," but no boys are given.

1789 Mr. Stapylton was lent a list, dated December 1789, by Archdeacon Holbech of Farnborough, Warwickshire: I have not seen the original, but Mr. Stapylton's transcript shews that it contains 372 names, including sixty-six Collegers who are placed before the Oppidans. The first seven Collegers have "P." affixed to their names, to indicate, no doubt, that they were Praepostors.

1789, 1790 (2) Lists belonging to the Earl of Romney. These three lists, dated respectively November 12, 1789, June 10, 1790, and December 1, 1790, present no special features of interest. They are each written on the first three sides of a sheet of foolscap, in black ink throughout, and all in the same handwriting, which is fairly good. None of them contain the Provost or Fellows, etc., nor place the Collegers first. The names of the forms are not given, but the forms are indicated by lines. The numbers given in the three lists are respectively 369, 395 (wrongly given as 392), and 386.
